

United Appeal Campaign Continuing This Week

Nearly $10,000 So Far Received

Response to the canvass on behalf of Penticton and District United Appeal is well ahead of last year, officials of the organization said today.

After a full week of campaigning by more than 200 canvassers, $9,331.11 has been raised representing approximately 55 percent of the $18,000 objective for the nine charitable agencies taking part.

Temperatures Hit 37-Year Low For Late May Monday

The low temperature of 29 degrees reached Monday morning in Penticton is the coldest temperature for the latter half of May recorded in Penticton for the last 37 years, the airport weather office reports.

Previous low for this time of the year was a chilly 27 recorded May 24, 1918.

Figures are kept at the local airport since 1912, and Monday's low is therefore the second coldest reading for late May in at least 43 years.

Freezing temperatures in late May have been recorded only seven times prior to 1955. These years are 1918, 1920, 1930, 1932, 1942, 1943 and 1950. Nearly all these temperatures, however, were either 30 or 31 degrees.

The campaign will continue all this week to give canvassers an opportunity to complete calls.

The city and district was divided into 32 sections with 50 captains placed in charge of each district. Only one captain has so far reported a complete canvass.

"Nine-in-one" is the theme behind this year's drive — one appeal on behalf of the nine participating organizations.

For the benefit of canvassers, following was the amount collected in each district, up to and including Saturday night:

1, $322.95; 2, $145.70; 3, $240.75; 4, $491.00; 5, $78.75; 6, $474.25; 7, $207.86; 8, $540.80; 9, $65.50; 10, $514.00; 11, $284.30; 12, $325.25; 13, $247.00; 14, $60.00; 15, $58.00; 16, $343.50; 17, $46.00; 18, $30.00; 19, $36.00; 20, $36.00; 21, $73.00; 22, $192.00; 23, $207.50; 24, $56.00; 25, $93.00; 26, $223.50; 27, $327.00; 28, $341.50; 29, $25.00; 30, (no figures as yet); 31, $157.00; 32, $397.50; Special names, $1,122.50. (District 11 is complete.)

Hint Of Road Link With Carmi

Glimmer of hope for a connecting road with Penticton was given residents of the Carmi-Beaverdell area by Honorable Phil Gagliardi, minister of highways, in an interview here over the weekend.

"I have asked an engineer to look into a proposal put forward to me by a private contractor for a road link," the minister said, "and if the figures presented by this contractor prove feasible there is a possibility the road could be built."

Driver Fined After Smash Near Kaleden

A heavy docket faced Magistrate G. A. McLelland yesterday following the long holiday weekend.

A Copper Mountain resident, Arnold Clement, was fined $100 and costs for careless driving following a head on collision on Roadhouse Hill, west of Kaleden Junction. The accident occurred Monday night and sent three women to hospital.

In good condition are Miss Agnes Gossen, driver of the other car, Mrs. Annie Gossen and Miss Mary Gossen. Other occupant of the vehicle, Henry Gossen, was unhurt. They are all residents of Yarrow. Clement received scratches.

According to evidence, the Copper Mountain man was travelling towards Penticton when he fell asleep at the wheel and met the Gossen car head on. Damage to the vehicles amounts to approximately $1,500.

Elmer Turner of Penticton was jailed 20 days on a second conviction of impaired driving. Another impaired driver (first offence) was fined $75 and costs. There were numerous convictions for minor traffic infractions and three Indians paid fines for intoxication.

Council passed accounts totaling $127,226.28 on Tuesday night.

Mr. Gagliardi hastened to add that the initial road, if built, would be far from a first class highway but would be a "link."

"We have nothing in mind at present regarding a cutoff to join Peachland and Princeton," he continued, "and the same thinking applies to the cutoff at Kruger's Hill to bypass Penticton."

Road construction south of Okanagan Falls and near Vaseaux Lake is nearing completion, he stated. On the project, near Sunland a third, or truck lane, will be built so that traffic can flow smoothly.

Tests are being made in Okanagan Lake preparatory to the first phase and calling of tenders for the Kelowna-Westbank bridge.

A new paving job from the Penticton schools south to Skaha Lake bridge "is in our thinking," he declared.

Asked about the overall road policy for B.C., he said it would continue according to schedule, adding, "we are paving in the neighborhood of 367 miles of highway this year. Over one-third of the highways paved in the province have been done since I became minister."

VOTING IN BANDSHELL

Council agreed on Tuesday night that if a vote is necessary to fill the school board seat vacated by Lynn B. Seney, the polling place will be the bandshell at the rear of the bandshell. Permission to use it has already been obtained from the Parks Board.

Record Influx Of Visitors During Victoria Day Holiday Weekend Here

A record number of tourists for the Victoria Day holiday weekend, most of them from the greater Vancouver area, visited Penticton on Saturday and Sunday, taxing accommodation to the limits.

When all local units were filled, overflow was funnelled into private homes and neighboring communities as far away as Kelowna and Oliver.

Bypass From Kruger's Hill An Eventuality

Penticton will eventually be bypassed by Highway 97. This was reported to the Board of Trade meeting in the Hotel Prince Charles last Friday by Paul Aldersey.

Mr. Aldersey, delegate to the highways conference held in Vancouver under sponsorship of the Vancouver Board of Trade and B.C. Chamber of Commerce, told the meeting that Evan Jones, B.C. deputy minister of highways, said in reply to a question that Penticton will definitely be bypassed from the foot of Kruger's Hill north. The deputy minister said, according to Mr. Aldersey, that he didn't know when the bypass will be constructed, but that it eventually would be.

Mr. Aldersey said that at the conference there was considerable talk of the B.C. Centenary celebrations, only three years away. It was hoped that a central committee would be appointed by the government to coordinate the effort throughout the province.

Feeling of the conference was that expenditures on this centenary should, wherever possible, result in permanent assets and Mr. Aldersey expressed the view that, in regard to Penticton, a permanent float should be planned.

Mrs. Hettie Kingsley, delegate to the B.C. Chamber of Commerce meeting, in her report expressed regret that more delegates were not in attendance from Penticton.

"We believe close to 2,500 persons came here from outside points over the weekend," declared U.G. Jardy, president of the Auto Courts and Resorts Association, "which would be an all-time record for May 24 weekend." He added that most visitors were from the Greater Vancouver area with lesser numbers from Vancouver Island, the United States and other points.

Tourist Information Bureau, a wing of the Board of Trade, operated at full steam ahead to keep pace with the number of persons seeking accommodation.

"We operated the bureau from 4 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. on Saturday and placed 100 persons in private homes," Mr. Jardy said. "On Sunday we were open from noon until 11:30 p.m. and looked after 200 persons. The bureau also operated on Monday and we found accommodation for persons as far north as Kelowna, south to Oliver and west to Keremeos."

Police Now Giving Visitors A Break

A new approach to the over-staying of visitors in metered areas was cited at Tuesday night's council meeting in a report by Mayor Oscar Matson who said that RCMP Sgt. W. A. Wallace had agreed to the convention sticker to cover metered as well as unmetered areas.

Council also noted that constables are now "giving the visitor a break" with respect to violations and also are endeavoring to cooperate with those who dash into stores in search of change for meter money.

City Police Costs Going Up And Up

Notification of a jump in policing costs after June 1 throughout all organized communities served by the RCMP to "40 percent of basic cost" plus extras and a further jump to 75 percent after June 1, 1957, left City Council stunned, at Tuesday night's meeting.

While the city will, in the words of Treasurer H. W. Cooper be "all right" on the extra cost this year, provided there is no increase from the present ten-man force covering the city, the 1957 costs, with the increasing population bringing the need for a twelve or fourteen-man force, could well reach $60,000 per year, the treasurer stated.

At the present time policing in this city costs approximately $20,000 per year.

"How can a city like this budget properly, when it does not know until May, long after its budget is finalized, what its police services are going to cost?" asked Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh. He indicated the need for a completely different system.

"This is like the welfare account," said Treasurer H. W. Cooper. "You don't know what it may amount to, so the only thing to do is to budget liberally, hoping that it will stay (Continued on Page Three)"

AROUND THE LAST TURN AND INTO THE HOME STRETCH. Young riders and fast horses combined to make the second annual Penticton Turf Club's track event an even bigger success than the previous year. Cold weather took the edge off some of the fun but close to 1,000 spectators stayed to the finish.

Council Ready To "Go It Alone" In Negotiating Natural Gas Franchise

Unless valley action is under way within a month's time, Penticton will "go it alone" in respect to the natural gas franchise.

This was agreed to by council following reading of a letter from C. H. Smith of the Inland Natural Gas Co., offering to re-open discussions with the city directly, rather than through the valley committee.

Mayor Oscar Matson reported on the discussions held at the recent valley municipal meeting in Revelstoke, at which gathering, he said, the committee was told that action was expected within a month. Council, however, gave lengthy consideration to previous delays.

Opinion was expressed by Alderman J. G. Harris that inasmuch as there has been no action, Penticton should open direct negotiations with the gas company.

Alderman H. G. Garryloch said that once the main pipeline is completed, there will be more than one concern seeking to put in a "line" to link up with the main trunk.

Alderman E. A. Titchmarsh stated that the "gas case" goes before the federal authority in the U.S. this month, and that if a favorable decision is obtained, construction would follow almost immediately. "And unless construction of the valley line and particularly the distribution system in Penticton is started simultaneously, we will not have the gas when the main line is (Continued on Page Six)"

Much like the aspect of coordination is the factor of SPEED. By this I do not mean the twentieth century conception of speed in our super-sonic aircraft, etc. Once again I refer to a fundamental principle of learning: quickness of the mental process. The most basic test of intelligence, the so-called I.Q. tests, really measure just two things: first ability and knowledge, and second, the speed with which a person can draw upon this knowledge.

To what extent does learning music develop this ability to act and think quickly? Well, here is an amazing and enlightening fact: When a nine year old child is playing a simple composition, it has been proved that up to SIXTY DISTINCT AND SEPARATE MENTAL OPERATIONS ARE REQUIRED IN ONE SECOND. It is unlikely that any other form of human activity can match this emphasis upon quickness and the effect it has upon the training of the mind. Yet music lessons quickly and easily develop that ability, and yield real pleasure at the same time.

This column is written as a contribution to children and their parents. We hope sincerely that it will be of value to you and your child.

Penticton Herald Editorials

What Goes On?

Not a little disquieting is the statement attributed in the press to Highway Minister Gagliardi that he had never even heard of a report about a rockfill bridge suggestion by which Westbank and Kelowna might be linked, as an alternative to the two-lane bridge.

Yet this suggestion, it is maintained, was made by a reputable firm linked in some way to the consultants employed by the government.

Whether this alternative is in itself a good or bad idea does not concern this editorial. But what does arrest our attention is the notion that, somehow, there is not full disclosure of all alternative programs and costs.

Perhaps this particular alternative idea is altogether unworthy, unfeasible. Then let the responsible authorities explain this. That's all that need be done. But burying advice of any sort is only storing up trouble.

A feeling persists amid a great many people that the government, and Mr. Bennett, in particular, may be moving into a position of building the bridge to Kelowna, "come hell or high water," quite regardless of cost or anything else. The suspicion could be unfair and unfounded. Yet just such a relatively minor incident as Mr. Gagliardi's comment regarding this recent rockfill discussion is the sort of thing that can strengthen the suspicion.

The Herald has given almost unstinting support to the idea of the bridge project. We have welcomed it as an eventual breaking of an impasse that threatened to clog up traffic in the valley for another indefinitely long period. It was a matter of getting something done, at long last.

Yet our support—and we now wish to make this emphatically clear—has always been hinged to a cost factor within the rough dimensions suggested by the government itself. If it transpires that the cost will be far out of line with the expectation, then indeed another look should be given the entire undertaking, in fairness to the provincial area as a whole, and to alternative development that might then be probed.

The crucial determinant, then, can be, in the calling for tenders, and in full disclosure by the authorities, at that time, as to the real costs that are being undertaken. That time will disclose realities and end conjectures.

If, at that time, the government's ideas as to projected costs are within the figures publicized in the preliminary period, or reasonably so, then we will very gladly renew our support of the bridge. But if they are not, then we think a worthy administration will examine future plans very carefully.

And, more than anything else, we trust, that the government will at least disclose the situation in its reality.

Let's have no more of a situation in which a responsible minister of the crown discloses that engineering advice, pertinent to his own department's affairs, has somehow not penetrated to his attention.

KEEP AN EYE...

* THE DOCTOR SAYS *

Recovery Depends On Type Of Disease And Person

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Any person who is sick wants to know: Will I recover? How long will it take? If I do not get well entirely, how much will the failure to do so interfere with my future activities? Doctors speak of this as "prognosis" or prospects of recovery.

Unfortunately, these questions cannot always be answered as definitely as one would like. Why not? First, to the question of getting well. For some diseases a doctor can say with a good deal of confidence that recovery will take place. This is because the disease is mild and practically everyone gets well. So it is with the common cold, for example.

With a great many other diseases, however, the answer is not so simple. The condition may be mild for most, but perhaps four or five out of 100 develop serious complications from which they do not recover. Under such circumstances the doctor has to be conservative and hedge in his promises. If he tells the patient and his family that recovery is certain, but that particular patient is one of those who do not do well, everyone is upset. The more uncertain the disease the worse is the problem.

At the beginning of an illness the doctor is even less well able to tell whether the patient will be in the group where favorable results occur or in the less favored group. Experienced doctors naturally are reluctant to tell the patient or the family something definite when they may have a 50-50 chance of being wrong.

The same problems exist when it comes to the question of how long an illness will last. Some diseases, like chicken pox, almost all take about the same length of time. A great many others vary so much that it is pure guesswork to say how long it will take before recovery is complete.

The third question is likewise difficult to answer. If a disease is present which is likely to limit the activity of the patient after the immediate illness is over, it is often impossible to tell how much the damage will be until late in its course. Something like this would be true for rheumatic fever where the heart is affected little or not at all in some, and in others so much that there is tremendous limitation on activity later.

Many factors influence the outcome of most diseases; the age of the patient, state of health at the time when the illness developed, the family history and, not the least, the mental attitude of the patient. Indeed, there are so many factors entering into prognosis that in most cases physicians do not want to commit themselves, or at least not definitely, until towards the end of the illness when the final outcome is much easier to predict.

Money Talked When B.C. Lions Elected To Train At Kelowna

Herald editorial which was critical of the efforts made to bring the B.C. Lions to Penticton for summer training came under fire at last week's meeting of the Board of Trade.

The barrage was laid down by Board of Trade President J. J. Winkelaar, who claimed that the board had made every reasonable effort to persuade the Lions to come to Penticton. In support of his contention Mr. Winkelaar quoted a letter from the football club thanking the board for its efforts.

The president won applause when he stated that the Board of Trade executive did not feel it could ask businessmen to donate to Board of Trade activities and then give the money to the Vancouver Lions. It was the gift of money which took the Lions to Kelowna, Mr. Winkelaar maintained.

The president also spoke of Board of Trade efforts which had been successful in opening of a branch office, which would bring two new families into Penticton as permanent residents.

within the bounds of the amount you've set."

The new change in costs for this year will mean approximately $2,379 per man, in place of the previous $2,000, with the extras covering numerous items on top of this, plus an escalator clause covering unforeseen contingencies.

Severely jolted, council referred the matter to the committee-of-the-whole for further study and recommended action.

The Corporation Of The City Of Penticton NOTICE OF BY-ELECTION

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to the electors of the Municipality of Penticton that I require the presence of the said electors at the Municipal Council Chamber 101 Main Street, Penticton, B.C., on the 30th day of May between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, for the purpose of electing a person to represent them as School Trustee for Lyman Seney's unexpired term.

THE MODE OF NOMINATION OF Candidates shall be as follows:

THE CANDIDATES shall be nominated in writing; the writing shall be subscribed by two electors of the municipality as proposer and seconder, and shall be delivered to the Returning Officer at any time between the date of the notice and twelve o'clock noon of the day of nomination; the said writing may be in the form numbered 3 in the Schedule of the "Municipal Elections Act", and shall state the names, residence, and occupation or description of each person proposed, in such manner as sufficiently to identify such candidate; and in the event of a poll being necessary, such poll shall be opened on Thursday and Friday, the second and third day of June, 1955, between the hours of twelve noon and three o'clock in the afternoon, and on Saturday the fourth day of June, 1955, between the hours of eight o'clock in the forenoon and eight o'clock in the afternoon at the rear of the Bandshell, Gyro Park, Martin Street, Penticton, B.C., of which every person is hereby required to take notice and govern himself accordingly.

(NOTE: Persons who shall be permitted to vote on the first two days of the poll, namely Thursday and Friday, shall be those qualified voters who shall sign a statement showing that it is their expectation that they will be absent from the municipality on the final days of the poll.)

Given under my hand at Penticton, B.C., this 25th day of May, 1955.

R. N. ATKINSON,

Welcome Nurses

On behalf of the citizens of Penticton, The Herald extends a sincere and warm welcome to the more than 250 registered nurses of British Columbia who are arriving in the city today as delegates to the annual convention of the organization.

Penticton is, indeed, proud to play host to the nurses for there are few organizations which possess such high standards and whose members are dedicated so utterly to the service of humanity.

It is a far cry to the Crimean War and to that great lady, Florence Nightingale, who, with her handful of devoted followers, raised the caring of the wounded and the sick from its degraded status of the day to one of nobility.

Forest Conservation Week

Among the many misconceptions regarding our forests and their administration, perhaps the most widely accepted and certainly the most fallacious, cluster around the meaning of the term "forest conservation".

Though the phrase is now familiar to every reader of our daily press, many laymen are still vague about its implications and if pressed for a definition might well fall back on the schoolboy classic, "Woodman, spare that tree."

With May 22 to 29 designated by the Prime Minister as "Forest Conservation Week", the attention of all Canadians is focussed on conservation and its significance in the national economy.

Reduced to its simplest terms, conservation means maintaining a forest in a state of maximum production. Expressed even more succinctly, we might say "Conservation means wise use."

There are two basic attitudes towards forest utilization — one destructive, the other productive. The former regards the forest as a mine to be worked out and abandoned, the latter sees it as a tree farm, yielding annual crops and capable of renewing itself in perpetuity under proper administration.

Conservation practices, properly applied, eliminate waste of all kinds and assure the most efficient harvesting of existing resources and their constant replacement by vigorous new growth.

While most of the aims of the conservationist can only be achieved through the co-operation of the forester and the forest industries, the man-in-the-street can also contribute, particularly when, in the role of motorist, camper or hiker, he invades the woods on holiday bent. For him, the important thing to remember is that human carelessness is responsible for far too many forest fires.

When you break camp, be sure your campfire is out. If you are a smoker, use that ashtray. Never forget that a carelessly discarded cigarette can be as destructive as an atom bomb when woods are tinder dry.

TULIPS IN CANADA AND HOLLAND — Every spring a 25-square-mile stretch between Lisse and Haarlem in the Netherlands bursts into brilliant color so gorgeous its beauty surpasses the fanciest imagination. From its superb and massive tulip fields like this (right) near Lisse, Holland exports more than three billion bulbs each year. To Canada last year came 52,500,000 Dutch bulbs valued at more than $1,250,000, and more are coming this year.

So plentiful are Dutch tulips becoming in Canada they are almost symbolic of this country as of Holland. Already Ottawa, with justification, claims the title of Canada's Tulip Capital and times its mid-May Tulip Festival to coincide with the tulip's peak of magnificence. Verna Rousseau is pictured beside a vast border of Dutch tulips at the foot of the Peace Tower on Ottawa's Parliament Hill. (Photos by MALAK, Ottawa)

FISHED OUT LAKES IN U.S., OVERCROWDED CONDITIONS, FORCE ANGLERS TO CANADA

By GRACE M. SIMPSON

Many Canadians are amazed at the large numbers of Americans that literally pour into British Columbia during June, July and August, primarily to fish. Actually, the answer is very simple: Fishing is an international pastime, and no matter what the economic conditions may be, there is always time and money for fishing. Certainly there is no healthier sport or method of relaxation.

Just why they come to Canada when their own lakes are constantly planted with fish is also easily explained, after perusing a copy of the "Outdoor Empire Weekly News". For example one headline states, "Million Trout Estimated Caught In State Sunday" — Sunday, April 24, was opening day. About one quarter million anglers took an estimated catch of a million fish.

On an inside page the headline stated, "Another Sunday Like That Will Clean Out Small Lakes." I would like to quote the story in part: "You'd better hurry if you want to catch many Rainbows at some of southern Washington's smallest fishing spots. 'The population of fish was cut sharply by crowds on Sunday and one more heavy week-end of angling should fairly well clean out some of the lakes.'"

One angler at a Richland cafe the morning after the opening was heard to comment that at one small basin lake he couldn't move his arms more than a few inches to one side to cast for fear of jabbing someone else in the face, that he couldn't throw the line too far without dropping the hook on the opposite bank, and that he had to place it just so far to the right or left, or it would snag a boat drifting in the middle of the small lake.

That is a small and very incomplete summary as to why so many Americans like to fish in B.C. Every year their numbers increase, which means that more and more fish will be taken from our lake and streams. Can they stand it? Some conservationists think not.

Now that our lakes are to be open on a January to December basis, and fishing through the ice is now legal, it would seem, in the natural course of events, that more fish than ever will be caught.

Is there anyone in the South Okanagan that does not know the sad story of Richter and Kilpoola lakes. How many Canadian anglers close to Osoyoos and Oliver were unable to fish because of so many non-resident anglers already on the spot? I have had numerous reports of fish being taken out in a sack or apple box. There is no doubt that over-limits were often the order of the day. I know this from reports voluntarily given to me. Many think that the daily limit catch is too generous.

For the angler close to the border who can come often, this is perhaps only too true. Certainly he catches an enormous amount of fish for only seven dollars.

But what of the angler coming only once a year from California, Texas, or some far southern state? Is it fair that he should pay the same license fee? To me it seems very unfair, yet I would not reduce the license even to them. An fish fast enough?

Latest reports coming in indicate that almost without exception the lakes are slow. In several localities storms have been reported. The fish seemed anxious to take the lures before the storm struck so with the weather improving a little each day we should soon be getting some good reports.

Shuswap Lake — Trolling fair at the Narrows, also at Sorrento. A 15 pounder reported.

Silvery Beach — Fairly good, with the orange flatfish proving best. Several other reports came in from Chase, all of them fair.

Little River — Still one of the best bets.

Harper Lake — The ice is out but fishing only fair, with worms the best bait.

Kamloops Lake — Fair, but improving. A 10-pound dolly reported.

Monte Lake — This lake seems to be a little better than most. Orange flatfish and willowleaf troll are best.

Salmon Lake — This lake has been sure fire for the past six or seven years and is most prolific, but at present the water is too dirty. Another week and it should be fine. Road very rough.

Best fishing reports come from the Thompson River, and a lot of fish are being boated. Campbell Bar is good, with the red and white Lührs Wobblers proving best.

Steelhead fishing is still good on the Lower Thompson, especially the Salmon River and mouth of the Nicola. The North Thompson is producing good catches of Dollys. The mouth of the Barriere River is teeming with fish.

Osoyoos Lake has slowed down due to cold windy weather, but with warmer weather promised fishing should again be good.

Victoria Stand Worries Vernon Hospital Board

VERNON—If the British Columbia hospital insurance service insists on implementing its latest directive, without deviation, directors of the Vernon Jubilee Hospital will have no alternative but to reduce staff by approximately 20 persons and to close portions of the ward space.

No formal action has been taken by the board, which has not yet had an opportunity of meeting to discuss the serious situation created by the BCHIS order dated May 2. However, vice-president Frank Baldo, in charge of public relations for the hospital, said that the situation can be described only as potentially disastrous unless some relief is given.

Briefly, hospitals throughout the province were informed by the commissioner of the service that wage and salary increases granted above the 1954 level would not be included in the per diem rate paid the hospitals for insured persons.

This directive comes approximately four months after submission for approval of the 1955 budget and after collective bargaining had been settled by arbitrary award to all employees except nursing staff. Nurses are now in the final year of a two-year contract.

The board of the hospital has followed what it considered to be correct procedure after consultation with the BCHIS and the cabinet. This policy included the following points:

1. Attempt to hold costs to the 1952 level.
2. If costs could not be held owing to matters beyond control of the board, the deficits would be made up by BCHIS following thorough inspection of records.

"In the past, in discussing government directives with BCHIS and the cabinet, the board had been led to understand that awards by conciliation procedures or regular bargaining under the labor act would be honored by BCHIS," Mr. Baldo reported.

"If BCHIS refuses now to honor contract awards made under the labor act, they will have to find some way to justify legally this action."

"If the award is accepted by the BCHIS and they still maintain their last directive, then the only alternative is a drastic reduction in staff with the closing down of a percentage of beds in some wards."

"It would appear that the board will be faced with several possible courses of action: continue to operate at present level until available money is exhausted; reduction of staff and closure of wards; persuade the government to take a realistic look at costs and to find the money to provide the services promised.

"If the hospital were the only hospital operating with a deficit, then it could be said that the Vernon board were not giving due regard to economy."

"However, this situation faces every hospital in B.C. and with 78 hospitals in the province it is inconceivable to us that the administration and boards of management are all wrong."

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — Basil Marenka has this sign in a window of his South Philadelphia food market:

"Free to every child: one coloring book for every three comics of crime or horror."

He figured that while a local committee on clean comics would fight to halt sale of publications listed as objectionable, he'd get rid of those already in possession of neighborhood youngsters. He burns the comics turned in to him.

ready by the end of 1956. Half of 1955 has now gone, and unless the franchise is finalized and plans undertaken this year here, those closer to the main line will be in a preferential position. "And I," said Alderman Titchmarsh, "don't want to see this community in that position."

Council agreed unanimously to re-open direct negotiations on a preliminary basis with the views that if there is valley action before these have proceeded any distance, then concerted action might be better, but that if no such action is forthcoming within the "deadline" established by the valley municipal body, it will proceed on its own.

Then, as a final thought, Mayor Oscar Matson remarked "one thing on which I think we are unanimous and that is that this city is not intending to operate its own gas utility." Council agreed vigorously with this view.

Record Influx

Even so, facilities were taxed and there were reports of people sleeping in cars.

"It was our policy to encourage coast motorists to return via the Fraser Canyon so that their money would be spent in B.C.," Mr. Jardy added.

Visitors praised the information bureau, Mr. Jardy said. As an example, a couple from Portland declared they had never seen this type of service in the United States and many enquiries wanted to pay for services rendered. Mr. Jardy said local eating establishments also came in for a full share of kudos.

"We knew early Saturday it would be a busy weekend," Mr. Jardy concluded, "when courts and resorts reported early in the afternoon they were filled up. Usually, this does not occur until evening."

Board of Trade President J. J. van Winkelaar expressed pleasure at the great influx of visitors and the manner in which no effort was spared to find accommodation for them. "Our expressed wish is to keep them happy," Mr. van Winkelaar declared.

Nurses

ning. Frank Richter, MLA, for the Similkameen will officially greet the nurses when they assemble on Friday for the business of the convention. Mayor Oscar Matson and Mrs. Evelyn Rainbow, president of the Penticton Chapter Registered Nurses' Association, will be among those officially welcomed.

A full day of deliberations has been scheduled for Friday to be followed with the convention banquet in the Glangary Room with Miss Giffin as the guest speaker.

Reports, resolutions, and the election of the new slate of provincial officers are on the agenda for the general session to commence at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Installation of the new officers and a meeting of the council will conclude the nurses' convention.

Conservative Victory Confidentially Predicted Tomorrow In Britain

LONDON (BUP)—All public opinion polls predicted today that tomorrow's British election will produce a swing to the right, giving Sir Anthony Eden's Conservatives an increased majority in the House of Commons.

HEAVY ODDS

The nation's legalized bookmakers consider it such a sure thing that they now refuse to take bets on the Conservatives at any odds. But they will bet all comers five-to-one that the Labor party loses. Nearly 30,000,000 Britons are expected to vote tomorrow to choose 630 members of the House of Commons.

The Conservatives under Eden will be trying to boost their 18-seat majority in the old House. There hasn't been such certain-

Indians Proud Of Community Hall

A dream of long standing as far as local Indians are concerned was realized when the new Community Hall was officially opened on the Penticton Reservation, last Friday.

PAGEANTRY
Although the ceremony had its solemn moments there was a good measure of pageantry as an historical outline of the Reserve and the Hudson's Bay Company was followed by an excellent play by Indian children entitled "Chief Spirit Names the Animal People."

The much-needed asset on the Reserve will serve many useful purposes, social, educational and spiritual.

ATTRACTIVE BUILDING
An attractive, well-built structure, fully electrified, the hall was built by the Department of Indian Affairs under jurisdiction of Crow Brothers with the assistance of volunteer help. Four murals depicting Indian life decorate the walls, a scenic painting of Okanagan Lake covers the backstage wall while stage curtains were made and stencilled by Mrs. Louise Gabriel.

Mrs. Gabriel, who acted as master of ceremonies, thanked all those who had assisted in bringing a dream of many years to a successful conclusion. Guest speakers were loud in their praise and expressed hope that the hall would prove of great benefit. Tribute was paid to Mrs. C. G. Bennett, Verna Cawston, Mrs. Hester White and Reg Atkinson for their assistance.

INTERESTING PLAY
Thanks were extended to Mrs. Helen Hayes, teacher at the Reserve School, for her untiring efforts in preparing the play. The three scenes were based on the Coyote stories, folklore of Okanagan Indians. Scene 1 depicted the meeting of the spirit animals and the spirit chief; scene 2 the Coyote's lodge and scene 3—back at the meeting place the following morning. Speakers at the ceremony were Mayor Oscar Matson, Mrs. Louise Gabriel, Emmanuel Louis of the Inkanep Reserve, Oliver Reg Atkinson, Father Murray, who was parish priest 15 years ago, Mrs. Hester White and Bill Derickson of the Westbank Reserve.

Among those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lacey of Osoyoos, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Crow of Cawston, Mr. and Mrs. Bill MacLean of Okanagan Falls.

SPACIOUS AND FULLY MODERN, the new Indian community hall fills a long standing need for the people of the reserve. Built by Crow Brothers and volunteer help under the authority of the Department of Indian Affairs, it is located at the fork of the Shingle Creek road.

Warm water is better than cold for sprinkling clothes. It seems to have more penetrating qualities.

Add a few drops of kerosene to the water used for cleaning windows. This helps prevent spotting from rain.

THE NEW COMMUNITY HALL on the Indian reserve was a beehive of activity Friday afternoon as last minute preparations were made for the official opening that evening. BOARD OF TRADE GUEST SPEAKER URGES INTER-TOWN COOPERATION

The urgent need for inter-town cooperation in the Okanagan, which he described as a "meshing of the gears," was outlined to the Board of Trade on Friday night by Glen Garvin, secretary-manager of the Kamloops board, guest speaker for the evening.

The speaker said that there is a historic link between Penticton and Kamloops, one that has been perpetuated in many ways, including the hockey play in the Okanagan league. As part of this affinity, he said that the Penticton Jaycees had been instrumental in starting the Kamloops Jaycees in 1947, a group to which the speaker had belonged prior to his taking over his present post.

Top-level cooperation is essential between Penticton and Kamloops particularly, inasmuch as each is the hub of considerable business-district "wheel". It is the purpose of such hub centres, acting as gears, to transmit the power of leadership to the areas around them.

This top-level cooperation would not interfere with the natural competition between towns, but would enhance it, encouraging each of the communities to make greater efforts. But such

ABOUT VISAS

This is the sort of thing that makes you wonder why there couldn't be a little more laxity in the law. An 18-year-old Dutch immigrant boy I know, Boy Scout troop leader, looked forward with excitement to attending an international camporee last weekend at Republic, Wash., where he would have been in charge of younger Scouts making the trip. Early this month he was told to get in touch with border officials for an okay to cross. They said they could see no reason why he couldn't make the trip but advised him to write the American consul in Vancouver, which he did. Over two weeks elapsed and on the eve of the local Scouts' departure he received a long questionnaire to be filled in and returned to the coast. Obviously this could not be done in time and, without the permit, he was refused entry which he took with silent disappointment. As a matter of fact, although he knew he wasn't going, he went down to the church and helped the other Scouts pack their bags. I know this family and they are honest, hard working folks. By way of contrast, the Boy Scout World Camporee is being held this summer at Niagara Falls, Ontario, with boys from many nations in attendance.

CONSCIENCE MONEY
How's this for a conscience story? The other day a young chap about 17 dropped into the Hotel Prince Charles. He sidled up to Al Loughheed and quietly asked, "Are you Mr. Loughheed?" Receiving an affirmative reply he continued, "Did you have a store in Vancouver Heights a few years back?" Again the answer was "yes" so the youth then said, "Well, about five years ago I stole some poster paints from your store and I am here to pay for them." With that he pulled a $5 bill out of his pocket. Naturally, Mr. Loughheed was somewhat taken aback. Knowing that the poster paints cost $1.25 he made it appear their value was 75 cents and accepted that amount as token payment so that the lad's conscience would be cleared. Checking a little deeper, Mr. Loughheed learned that the youth had come up on the morning train and was going back to the coast that same night, apparently having made the trip up here with one thought in mind — to clear his conscience.

PARKING METERS
The man Walt McCarthy is a person of strong convictions. Last week when his birthday rolled 'round, Mrs. McCarthy drove uptown to buy him a present. While making the selection, parking meter time ran out and she was ticketed. Driving to the tire shop she said, "Wait, I brought you a present but while buying it I got a parking ticket. Under the circumstances shouldn't you pay the fine?" "My eye," roared Walt, "pay a fine for my birthday present. Nooosir." And he didn't but he still got the gift.

MORE METERS

George Carter is a little peeved. An executive member of the Board of Trade he meets with other members of that body in the trade board building once a week, about 5 p.m.. At the last meeting George parked his car on Main street and put some pennies into the meter. Then he spent the next hour discussing problems of the community, etc. When he came out there was a ticket on the windshield, bold and large as life. "And it was made out at 5:52, eight minutes before six o'clock," says George, "they are cutting corners pretty fine aren't they?"

U-DRIVE

Here's a deed of good intent that rather backfired. About three weeks ago a well dressed man called at Howard and White Motors, requesting a U-Drive. All their cars were out but the would-be customer was insistent that he must have one so H & W Motors phoned Mac's U-Drive. Naturally, they were pleased with the gesture on behalf of Howard and White, and away went the man in a 1954 car from Mac's. One trouble is, he or the car, haven't been seen since.

OYSTERS AND PEARLS

One night recently the John Folks of Eckhardt avenue had a yen for sea food so they went to the Hi-Lite Grill. Mrs. Folk decided on oysters. When she bit into one of them her teeth struck something hard and you've probably guessed by now that it was a pearl, snowy white, measuring three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. What she got a big kick out of, though, was the look on the cook's face when they called him over. Things ended on a pleasant note and everybody went away happy, including Mrs. Folk with the pearl in tow.

To remove iron rust stains from material, wash the garment with soap and water, rinse well, then bleach in the sun. After cleaning waste baskets, wax the inside. Less dirt will cling.

Resolutions Deal With School Planning

Resolutions dealing with pollution and with school buildings were passed at the second quarterly meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit held in Kelowna last week.

Arising from discussion following an interesting talk on "Pollution Control — The Provincial Picture and Needs", given by Reg Bowering, provincial health engineer from Victoria, and the fact that so many bodies such as the Fisheries Department, Federal Game Commission, Water Rights Branch, etc., all have some control over pollution, it was resolved that the government be asked to look into the matter of an integrated body to centralize control and investigate individual problems along these lines.

This could be made up of representatives from groups now having controls of one kind or another; and would give a central department which could be approached by industry for help with its problems.

Since it was thought that many school buildings were erected without all matters pertaining to health being fully planned, a resolution was passed that all school boards be asked to co-operate with the health unit in making plans for new school buildings.

Naramata School Children Celebrate Victoria Day

NARAMATA—Ideal Okanagan weather with its bright sunshine on Monday morning favored the Naramata elementary school children as they observed Victoria Day with their annual program of folk songs and dances and the coronation of Carol Wiseman as their May Queen.

A record crowd, among which were many representatives from neighboring communities, attended the annual festivities held at Manitou Park under the sponsorship of the Naramata Board of Trade.

The May Day celebration, a tradition with the residents of Naramata since being established here in the early days, was planned originally as a children's event and still retains that predominant feature. The school children always participate in an extensive program of training under the supervision of the teaching staff for the many dances and songs presented by them in the forenoon prior to an afternoon of sports and an evening dance.

Festivities commenced on Monday when a colorful procession composed of reigning royalty, royalty-elect, Cubs, decorated bicycles and all the elementary school children led the Volunteer Fire Brigade's recently acquired red truck entered the park. Board of Trade president, Donald Salting, welcomed the large number of children and adults present for the occasion and introduced W. G. Bralwood, guest speaker. Mr. Bralwood, who has travelled extensively, told of the origin of May Day and colorfully described festivities as he has seen them in many parts of the world.

Several May pole dances, song selections, square dances, a bicycle drill and a special number "A Hobo Dance" by a group of the school boys, were featured on the very entertaining program arranged by the school staff, Grant Willan, principal; Mrs. Verna Kennedy and Miss Ruth Ralston. Mrs. Percy Hancock provided music for the program and the public address system was by Wesley Cairn-Duff.

Prizes in the decorated bicycle drill were presented to Sharon Grant, first, and Marlene Johnson, second. Jimmie Sinclair was caller for the square dancing. Following an intermission for lunch the children and many of the adults participated in the afternoon's sport events. George

Local Legion Runs Into Stone Wall

Canadian Legion is still attempting to ascertain why Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is not offering a comparable deal for the second group of homes in the Killarney-Kilwinning district as they did the first.

Offer to sell the homes to tenants was made recently by the corporation but the majority of veterans claim prices asked are exorbitant and completely out of line with what was obtained for an earlier group of homes sold some years ago.

"I you don't like it you know what you can do—seems to be their attitude," Jack Hooper declared, in reporting to the regular Legion meeting on Friday night.

"We are smack up against a stone wall," he continued, "prices seemed extraordinarily high so we undertook an investigation. We went to City Hall and gathered facts and figures. Then we wrote Central Mortgage and asked them how they arrived at next month's meeting."

These figures.

"Their answer is a run-around. It quotes no figures and gives no reasons. We then took up the matter with our member of parliament, O. L. Jones, and after interviewing officials in Ottawa he wrote us, but his letter was not encouraging."

Mr. Hooper said the next line of approach will be to get a contractor to quote replacement value and a real estate man to give appraisal. These plus facts and figures from City Hall, will be forwarded to the corporation.

Legion members gave full support to Mr. Hooper and his fellow committee member, P. F. Exaut, to continue their efforts. They will make a full report to them how they arrived at next month's meeting.

Board Of Trade Building Ass'n Report Presented

George E. Lang was voted in as chairman of the Board of Trade Building Association at the meeting of the board held Friday in the Hotel Prince Charles. Mr. Lang succeeds P. E. Pauls who resigned from the committee for personal reasons.

Others on the committee are F. G. Pye, H. B. Morley, G. M. Knight and a representative of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, M. A. Allan.

Mr. Pauls gave an encouraging report of the state of the building fund but warned it would be sometime before it could be considered a source of usable revenue. The retiring chairman reviewed the history of the Board of Trade Building Association, relating how the dream of the board to become financially self-sufficient resulted in the association being formed in 1948.

Mr. Pauls paid glowing tribute to H. B. Morley, long time secretary of the Board of Trade, whose drive and enthusiasm was largely responsible for the board having its own building.

The Board of Trade hasn't got a nickel invested in the building. Mr. Pauls stressed, and he was very emphatic that the asset, increasing in value every year, should be left strictly alone.

Mr. Morley then took the floor to point out that in constructing its own building the board had asked no concessions from the City Council, but the board had thought that in creating tax revenue to the amount of over $3,000 a year, that Council would have made a substantial grant, commensurate with the tax revenue from the building.

Grant Warwick Retires; Hockey Picture Uncertain

Bill And Dick Warwick Thinking Of Hanging Up Their Skates Also

By John Yeomans

The way things are shaping up it's beginning to look as if the rest of the Okanagan will be breathing a lot easier come next hockey season. Because the greatest stumbling block in the way of Kamloops, Vernon and Kelowna hockey clubs for the past three seasons will, in all probability, be removed come the 1955-56 season.

This stumbling block is the powerful one-two-three punch called "The Warwick Brothers," the nemesis of the Okanagan senior hockey loop and one of the greatest group of hockey brothers of all time.

When the first Penticton Vees' hockey game gets underway next season it is quite possible that these three faces, so well known from Vancouver, B.C., to Prague, Czechoslovakia, will be missing from the Vees' lineup. Grant Warwick, anyway, is definitely retiring from hockey. Bill and Dick have still not made up their minds, but chances are they will also be hanging up their skates.

Of the three it is hard to choose which one has contributed most to Penticton's hockey development. Grant, of course, is the incomparable coach who in two seasons carried the Vees to the Allan Cup and the World Hockey Championships' title.

Bill Warwick's contribution has been a spirit, a drive and a burning desire to win that in moments of greatest tension and vital importance has flared into an unstoppable force, a burning incentive that has carried the Vees to near-impossible heights of accomplishment.

And last, but certainly not least, Dickie Warwick — the youngest of the three — not only has been a spearhead of the Vees' success since he came to the Vees in 1951, but is the main reason for the arrival in Penticton of Grant and Bill Warwick, which is to say, the Vees' success. For Dick is the Old Original, the first player to be signed by the club, and the instigator of the plan to bring his brothers to Penticton.

The three form a unit that will never be forgotten here or anywhere else. And their departure from hockey ranks, whether temporary or permanent, will have a profound effect, one way or another, on hockey in the Okanagan and B.C., if not Canada.

Grant Warwick said to me yesterday that his retirement has been in the wind for some time. The same applies to his brothers. But nobody was quite sure what to think because many a time has a great sportsman left

Grant promised that he would be available at any time to give all the assistance that it is within his power to give the team and the club. "Frankly," he added, "I don't think the picture is nearly as bleak as it seems. I'm convinced that next year's version of the Vees will be at least as good as any club in the valley."

As for next year's coach, Grant told me that he felt sure the new executive would choose the right person. "Personally," he said, "I feel it would be sort of nice to see somebody from last season's team take over the coaching job. But that's no recommendation on my part; just a personal preference."

GRANT WARWICK Retires from hockey

HOOF BEATS

A good representation of Okanagan riding clubs from both sides of the border is expected at the first horse show of the season, scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday at the Oliver ranch of G. A. Lundy. Penticton riding club will be playing a large part in this interesting riding jamboree.

Saturday's program will cover a drill competition, a cow cutting contest and various halter classes. Sunday will see equitation classes, saddle classes, jumping, tent pegging and several other events.

Following the weekend activity riders will prepare for the June 5, Kelowna Gymkhana. After that date, local riders will be busy getting ready for their own big horse show July 1 at Queen's Park, a date to be kept in mind by those interested in this sport. Over 60 horses are expected to take part in this show.

Those taking part in this weekend's meet at Oliver are: Alf Fletcher (president of the PRC) and "Query"; Capt. A. M. Temple and "Jumper"; Allan Hyndman and "Miss Muffet"; Donna Malmberg and "Kid"; R. K. Owen and "Marif"; Dick Coe and "Johnny"; Beulah Moore and "Masatoche"; and Roy Walsh and "Brandy."

RAIN FAILS TO DAMPEN "SPORT OF KINGS" SPIRIT

Everything cooperated but the weather to give Penticton a splendid day of the "Sport of Kings" on Monday afternoon. Officials of the group, headed by official announcer, R. Morrison, agreed that "racing is definitely on the way back" in Penticton after this highly successful season-opener at Queen's Park.

When the afternoon started, the stands were well filled, and it was only when a cold rain fell for a scant few minutes that the crowd — which, as is common in the Okanagan, does not like rain — melted away.

All agreed that the races were well run, and keenly interesting. For a dirt track they were fast and practically all closely contested.

In the drawing for the horse, the winner was Bud Gawne of Naramata, who with his family has always been keenly interested in riding and in the out-of-doors in general.

Two races were won by "George Departed", and two by the Vernon-owned "Jo Jo"; and one each by "Apple Toddy", from Republic, Wash.; "Busy Body", and "Could So".

"GRUNTERS INTERNATIONAL" INVADE PENTICTON TOMORROW

Beef, muscle, mock ferocity and all the thrills of one of the best shows in the world of sports will invade Penticton's War Memorial Arena tomorrow when the Parker Enterprises company of westerners comes to the Peach City for a one night stand, featuring dastardly Danno McDonald of Hamilton, Ont., and roaring Red Vagnone of Amarillo, Texas.

The "grunTERS" show gets underway at 8:30 p.m. on May 26, with tickets going on sale at the arena box office only. In all there will be three big events, lasting for about two hours.

McDonald and Vagnone meet in the main event, the final one of the evening, a one-hour or two-of-three falls tangle. The program has an international flavor, as four different countries are represented.

Starting things off will be a special match between Tommy Nilan of Sydney, Australia, and Ivan Kameroff of Russia. This bout will be a 30-minutes or one-fall affair.

The second contest sees giant Johnny Demchuk of Edmonton take on thumping Thor Hagen of Spokane in a 45-minute, two-of-three falls tussle.

Vancouverite Wins BCIRA Shoot Grand Aggregate

The ninth annual B.C. Inland Rifle Association shoot was held at the Summerland range on May 22 and 23. Cold, windy weather made shooting very difficult during the entire shoot, but some excellent scores were made by the 55 marksmen. The Lt. Governor, C. A. Banks, trophy for the Grand Aggregate was won by J. Cramer, Vancouver, with a score of 284 out of a possible 300. In second place was W. Ward, Kamloops, with 279; and in third position was S. Lee, Kamloops, with 277.

In the Allcomers' aggregate — total score of the three matches shot on the final day — J. Cramer again emerged victorious with 142 out of 150. Ward was second, and G. Farquharson placed third. Winner of the Tyro Grand Aggregate and the E. W. Work trophy, was B. Allbright.

The trophy for the Allcomers' Tyro aggregate was awarded to C. E. Smith. Match No. 7, open to members of a five-man team, was won by Kamloops with a score of 683. The award for this match is the Sweet Caporal shield.

Match No. 8, open to members of an eight-man team competing for the Summerland Shield, was won by the Summerland Rifle Club after a very close competition with Kelowna, the scores being 711 to 710.

In Match No. 9, the City of Kamloops Cup is awarded for a competition between teams representing the Interior and the Coast. In this match, the coast shooters emerged victorious.

Match No. 10, open to teams of four members competing for the Wm. Louie Trophy, the top place was taken by the Kelowna team, with the Seaforth Regiment in second place, the scores being 182 and 178.

All of the team shoots, with the exception of Match No. 9, were held concurrently with the individual matches at the 200, 500 and 600 yards, the total scores for the members chosen for the teams making the aggregate for those events.

In individual competitions many good scores were recorded, and shoot-offs had to be held at most ranges to decide the final winners. In Match No. 1, 200 yards, for the Price Gibson Cup, R. Weeks of Kelowna was the winner, after shooting off with J. Kalemach and W. Lightburn, all having scores of 49 out of 50.

The Tyro prize was won by Bill Vercheres of Mission, also with 49. Match No. 2, 500 yards, again saw R. Weeks emerge victorious with a perfect score of 50 points. This was the only "possible" made during the entire shoot. Second and third places were won by V. Dickey and H. Palmer, with scores of 49.

Red Sox Stage Second Last-Gasp Victory In Two Weeks; Win Tourney

One thing about the Penticton Red Sox, they may be playing only 400 ball right now but they certainly know how to carry their home crowds to emotional heights and win their complete approval as a club that has more than its share of a sense of the dramatic . . . or luck.

Sox have met Oliver OBC's and the Summerland Macs once each, away from home, in regular league play, and have lost both games. Yet in Monday's big three club tourney here the locals smothered under the Summerlanders 17-4; then for the second time this season won a ball game in the bottom of the ninth, after two men were gone, when they nipped Oliver 8-7 on Charlie Preen's last gasp single with the bases loaded.

It's getting to be a habit around here, this winning ball games after the other team has done everything but wire home "we've won". On May 8, the Sox pulled the weirdest trick of many a year when they pushed across six runs after two were out in the ninth to nip Vernon 10-9. Monday they had an easy job . . . all they needed were three runs to win at the same stage of the game.

Eddie John, normally a second basemen, was the big winner in the first game as he gave up six hits while he and his teammates watched the Macs commit six horrible errors. Ed only had trouble in the fifth inning, when the Summerland crew collected half their hits and all their runs.

The Sox scored nine massive runs in the third, added three more in the fourth and tallied five for good measure in the fifth as they pounded out 10 hits while committing just one error.

In the game against Oliver the Red Sox started out well with two runs in the first. Oliver came back with two in the second, however, and it was 4-3 for the OBC's going into the fifth. The locals made things interesting with a lone run that frame, and went ahead 5-4 with a pair of runs in the seventh.

Oliver appeared to have put the game on ice, however, when they pushed across three in the eighth without answer from the Sox. It was 7-5 going into the bottom of the ninth.

Young Charlie Richards came up, first and flied out. George Drosson went to first on a walk but big hitter Clifton flied out and things looked bleak . . . as they did May 8. Then Sam Drosson got to first on an error to the shortstop, the big break of the game, and Doug Moore loaded the bases with his third hit of the tilt.

The stage being set, Elmer Mori made things tenser still when he outwaited pitcher Snider and got to first on a walk, forcing in a run to make it 7-6.

Then Cluey Preen got his blow, scoring Sam Drosson from third and Doug Moore from second . . . and that was the ball game, and the finish of a long but definitely worthwhile afternoon of baseball.

There were three home runs in this game, the first six runs coming as a direct result of these out-of-the-park blows. Buddy Russell got the first in the opening frame, scoring Charlie Richards. And Oliver's Vanderburgh and Fritz each collected homers with a man on base.

Oliver's runs came on 13 hits but they committed five errors. Penticton scored on 12 hits but they booted the ball six times. Clifton was the winning pitcher and Snider took the loss on the chin.

Big hitter was OBC's Martino with four hits in five trips. Doug Moore was 3 for 5, and Buddy Russell collected two safeties in three official at-bats.

Valley Baseball Loop Standings

Summerland Macs are still one-and-a-half games ahead in the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League today, after winning their fifth straight at Vernon Sunday. All three first division clubs won, however, so that Kamloops and Oliver are still within halting distance of the front-runners.

Penticton Red Sox are three games off the pace, Kelowna Orioles find themselves one notch further back and Vernon Canadians are five games behind the leaders. Following are the OMBL standings to date:

	PI	W	L	%	GBL
SUMMERLAND MACS	5	5	0	1.000	—
KAMLOOPS OKONOTS	6	4	2	.667	1 1/2
OLIVER OBC'S	6	4	2	.667	1 1/2

Slow-Starting Penticton Red Sox Lose Another, 12-6 To Kamloops

Penticton's slow-starting Red Sox lost their third game in five starts Sunday at Kamloops when they dropped a 12-6 decision to the hard-swinging Okonots, outtrenching the Sox deeper into fourth place in the OMBL, and keeping the winners 1 1/2 games behind first place Summerland Macs.

The Macs also chalked up a win Sunday, their fifth in as many starts, when they nipped the talent-studded but luckless Vernon Canadians 6-4 at Vernon. Macs are now three wins away from equalling their total number of victories last season. The Canucks have yet to win a game this season.

In the third OMBL fixture Oliver OBC's thrashed Kelowna Orioles 12-1 at the Okanagan city to keep pace with the Kamloops Okonots and maintain the two clubs' tie for runner-up spot. The Red Sox started out strongly in their game at Kamloops, pounding out five runs in the first three innings and looking good. Then their bats quieted down and starting pitcher

Getz threw, and the Kamloops slugs collected eight runs in two innings, three in the third and five in the fourth, to make it 8-5.

Red Sox got back into the game with another tally in the fifth but that was it, as far as their attacking forces were concerned. The Okonots added four more in the eighth for good measure.

The big Kamloops bats collected a total of 14 hits in winning this game, while committing two errors. The Pentictonites managed seven hits and committed three errors.

The game was highlighted by a pair of home runs, one each by Kamloops' Powles and Penticton's Sam Drosson. Drosson's blow accounted for three runs and came in the Sox's big third inning. Powles added a pair of singles to his homer and ended the day with three hits in five trips, the same as team-mate Buchanan.

Other members of the Red Sox who collected hits were Burgess, Poonikoff, Russell (two), and Clifton. The winning pitcher was Baz Nagle, the loser Dick Getz.

Legion, Rotary Win At Little League Opening

Last year's Little League champion Rotary team served notice Sunday that they are definitely out for their second consecutive Penticton Little League title this season.

Playing a brand of ball that would do justice to a higher classification than Little League, the Rotary crew pounded out 11 hits to sink Lions 14-6 in the second game of the season-opening doubleheader at Little League Park. In the first game Legion nipped a fighting Elks crew 11-8.

Rotary's impressive win was accomplished on the five-hit pitching of Bruce Rowland. Eleven-year-old Bruce struck out 11 en route to his victory, and never appeared in any particular trouble, except for a slight lapse in the bottom of the fifth when the losers picked up four runs on three hits.

The Rotarians showed balanced power at the plate. Their top batter for the game only managed two hits in four official trips, which would indicate that the whole team contributed to the victory. Fielding was excellent for both teams. Rotary booted the ball only twice while the Lions committed three errors. The rousing Elks-Legion game saw the losing team outlast the Legionnaires 9-6, but fall down badly in the error department. Elks booted the ball nine times, about half of which accounted for runs directly or indirectly. Legion committed seven errors, however, so that both teams were suffering from the ease of winter butterflies.

This opening game was highlighted by the fine solo performance of Elks' McCready, who pounded the apple four times in as many at bats, including the first home run of the season—a towering blow over the centerfield fence—a double and a pair of singles.

In pre-game ceremonies Mayor Oscar Matson officially opened the season, and had a small chat with Little League head Frank Higgins. Then a foursome of baseball addicts, who no doubt wish they were young enough to play Little League ball again, held an impromptu "game" for the benefit of those in the stands. These were Kiwanians Tim Orell (batter), George Cady ("umpire"), Gliss Winter (catcher) and Earl Wells (pitcher).

Next Little League game goes tonight at 6:45 at Queen's Park, and features the two undefeated teams, Legion and Rotary.

The shooters were very satisfied with the target marking, as the men showed the utmost care and very few errors were made.

FIRST RUN OF THE LITTLE LEAGUE SEASON crosses the plate for the Elks a split second before Legion pitcher could tag the runner Sunday afternoon, as these two clubs teed off in the top half of the doubleheader opener. Bleachers were well filled despite icy winds and an overcast sky and all four teams made it quite worthwhile in this first outing since spring training began several weeks ago.

Unbeaten Record For Rangers Gets Last Test Sunday

Penticton Queen's Park Rangers, this city's most successful sports team, are just one game away from being able to lay the enviable claim of going through an entire season undefeated. The QPR's meet the Armstrong soccer team in the final of the Cup-Tie for the Royal Anne Hotel trophy this Sunday.

A win for the locals would give them possession of the two Okanagan soccer cups, as they won the Penticton Dray and Express trophy two months ago when they clinched first place in the regular Okanagan Soccer League season. Sunday's game will be played at Vernon.

The Rangers won the right to meet Armstrong in the final of the playoffs when they eliminated Kelowna Hotspurs at the Orchard City on Sunday by a score of 5-2. This game was the second round of the Cup-Tie. The QPR's defeated Osoyoos in the first round as Kelowna downed Vernon.

Armstrong beat Kamloops in their first round match and drew a bye into the final or third round. Rangers are heavily favored to defeat Armstrong and win the Royal Anne silverware, as they have beaten the northern crew every time they've met this season.

Bowling Greens See First Action Of Year Monday

Lawn bowling rolled back into the Penticton sports picture Monday afternoon with small opening ceremonies and the first howling action of the season at the Brunswick greens.

An excellent opening day turnout heard men's bowling club president A. A. Swift say a few words of welcome to the old members, newcomers and visitors, and then saw Miss Hettie Parkin throw the first jack... and the season was officially opened.

Starting things off with a bang was one of the closest games seen here in a long time. In the president vs. vice-president match the latter team won by a scant two points, the final score being 76-74.

Following this match, all teams played 18 ends, stopping halfway through for a welcome tea served by the ladies.

$70 Per Hunter, $100 Per Angler, Is Spent In B.C.

VANCOUVER, B.C.—(BUP)—British Columbia's fisheries and game administration are putting their heads together with plans to improve the province's wildlife tourist attractions this season.

Armed with figures from a recent survey, showing that tourists spend between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 yearly in B.C., leading fisheries and game officials were quick to follow suit with a poll on the amount spent by individual hunters and anglers visiting the province in quest of outdoor sports.

They came up with statistics that show the average hunter parts company with $70 yearly in the pursuit of his sport in B.C. Anglers spend an average of $100 annually. Dr. James Hatter, B.C.'s chief game biologist, reported to the

Elks Edge Lions 11-10 In Monday L.L. Fixture

After losing their respective first games of the season at Little League's doubleheader opening Sunday, Elks and Lions were each determined to win in their meeting Monday evening, the only LL game scheduled for that day. The result was a rousing, extra-inning battle that saw Elks edge Lions 11-10.

Elks' Ross McCready was the winning pitcher, and Corky Rainer was the hero of the game as he not only pitched the first 5 2/3 innings for the winners but scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning, the extra frame.

It was tense and exciting all the way, with the Lions continually forging ahead a little only to see Elks battle back gamely. Lions tallied four times in the first, and Elks answered with a pair. Lions got another in the second, but Elks tied it at five-all with three runs in the bottom of the third.

Lions made it 8-5 in the fourth, but Elks narrowed it to 8-7 by the close of the fifth inning. Lions appeared to have put the game on ice when they made it 10-7 in the top of the last inning, but the scrappy Elks pushed across three to force overtime.

Not only was the scoring very even, but so were the total hits and errors. Elks outdid Lions 8-7, and Lions outdid Elks 6-4.

Kamloops Okonots play an important doubleheader at Summerville Sunday afternoon. A double win for Kamloops would give them first place in the OMBL, while the Mags only need a split to keep in the top spot.

game in a bull ring. At Melbourne, Australia, their court wasn't built in time for a scheduled appearance. The team performed on a tarpaulin stretched over a tennis court and drew more people than the Davis Cup tennis final.

They played on concrete at Bangkok, Thailand, and on dirt at other places.

Saperstein says he has taken basketball all over the world and found interest in the game booming.

"What do we give 'em? We give 'em a show. Fancy ball-handling, a few tricks and good basketball."

Health Engineer Says Pollution Control Is
'Everybody's Business'

Reg Bowering, provincial health engineer, was in Kelowna for two days last week. On Tuesday he spoke to valley processing plant operators, and on Wednesday to members of the South Okanagan Health Unit on pollution control.

Mr. Bowering has had wide experience in the matter and spent a year in Korea with the World Health Organization.

At present, he said, there is no act in the province which looks after the overall subject of pollution. He thought that there should be some pollution control agency which would be province-wide in its outlook.

"British Columbia has profited by mistakes which have been made in parts of Canada which were settled earlier," he continued, "and our problem is mainly one of prevention rather than abatement. In B.C. we have no serious pollution which cannot be controlled."

He thought that the people of this province can develop a system of controls of land, water and air, which will make it impossible for any of these to be in a bad state.

He concluded by saying, "Pollution control is everybody's business. Members of health boards should be leaders in public health thinking."

Fred Alcock, sanitarian with the Health Unit, spoke on pollution control in regard to the local situation.

Okanagan Processing Clubs Meeting Held

SUMMERLAND — Several members of the Fruit and Vegetable Processing Laboratory attended a meeting of the Okanagan Processing Club in Kelowna on Tuesday.

A round table discussion was held on factory waste disposal with F. E. Atkinson, as moderator. F. R. Alcock, sanitarian inspector for the South Okanagan Health Unit spoke on public health aspects.

Mr. Stringer, biologist, Fisheries department, B.C. Game Commission, talked on stream pollution.

J. F. Bowen, bacteriologist, Fruit and Vegetable Processing Laboratory, Summerland, Research Centre, spoke on lagoons for waste disposal.

Reg Bowering, provincial health engineer, Victoria, discussed engineering and general topics regarding disposition of waste.

NEWS FROM

Victoria

By J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA — This is the time of year when we in your capital wish all of you from up-country. If you should come here this summer, would visit your Legislative Buildings.

It's amazing how few British Columbians ever enter the Buildings. They've seen them from the outside — and that's about all. Even per capita, it's figured more Americans have been inside the Legislative Buildings than British Columbians.

There's plenty to be seen. The State entrance, through the wide iron gates, is open this year to visitors for the first time, so that you may see two historic plaques — one commemorating the start of the Buildings in 1893, the other marking their formal opening in 1898. From the top of the State entrance you may take some fine pictures of the lawns and flower beds, the splashing fountain, the Inner Harbor and the ships and yachts.

There are, in the main lobby and staircases, some fine examples of stained-glass, which would be quite impossible to replace today, so beautiful are they. There are, too, in the lobby, photographs of B.C.'s most noted pioneers — bearded gentlemen who settled this once wild land.

Then, too, you may peer across the golden gate in the blue-carpeted marble-pillared legislative chamber and see where your MLA's make laws for you and vote money for the public service.

There are the library and the archives — one of the finest in North America, so the experts say. You'll see the Emily Carr paintings there — and many other pictures of historic and artistic value. It's a shame more British Columbians don't know about this library and archives, and urge their MLA's to vote these two places more money. There's also the Museum of Natural History, where you'll be astonished at the variety of the exhibits.

Then there's Helmcken House — a government museum now — a block away from the main buildings. This is believed the oldest house in British Columbia, filled with souvenirs of a colorful past — gowns with bustles, old furniture, Dr. Helmcken's sea chest.

You can most profitably put in a half-day in your Legislative Buildings. Especially if your youngsters are with you should you visit the seat of your government — for it's good to have young people know something of their history, and the Legislative Buildings are filled with history.

It's extraordinary, even, the number of Victoria people who have never been inside the Legislative Buildings. A safe bet would be not one in 10.

Every day one meets Victorians in the corridors, hopelessly lost, and they admit it's their first visit, or they say they haven't been there in years and years, and, my how the place has grown.

That's for sure — time was when the main stone pile of the Buildings was considered far too large. Now there's a huge permanent annex — the Douglas Building — and a dozen smaller buildings called temporary annexes, and half a dozen old houses which have been fixed up and turned into offices.

Yes, it would be nice to have folks in the Buildings this summer from such places as Prince Rupert, Duncan, Abbotsford, Penticton, Revelstoke, Langley, Prairie, Quesnel, Chilliwack, Haney, Lillooet, Mission, Kelowna, Vernon.

"Grand Ole Opry" Show To Appear At Arena June 1

A big "Grand Ole Opry" show featuring top-bracket recording stars will appear on stage in the Memorial Arena on Wednesday, June 1, at 8 p.m. Famed Roy Acuff, the "King of Mountain Music," will headline the program. Roy has been a consistent favorite throughout the years for his moving hymns, ballads and novelty numbers.

Adding to the show's entertainment will be charming Kitty Wells, "Queen of America's Folk Singers." From her overnight sensation, "It Wasn't God Who Made Honky Tonk Angels," Kitty has scored time and again, and currently has three songs showing on Billboard Magazine's popular list.

Also on stage will be Johnnie and Jack, hits from coast to coast; the "Smoky Mountain Boys"; "Pap" and his jug band; "Big Howdy" Forrester, world champion fiddle player; The "Tennessee Mountain Boys," and many others.

As added attraction there will be 1½ hours of free dancing for ticket holders, and the Peach City Promenaders will give a square dance exhibition.

Innovation By Trade Board At Naramata

NARAMATA—A new venture for the Naramata Board of Trade, a series of dinners for both men and women with a guest speaker, was well received when approximately 60 guests attended the first dinner last Wednesday evening in the community hall with Roy Chapman of CKOK addressing them on "Television in the Okanagan."

These meetings are not only planned to create interest in Board of Trade activities but also as a source of entertainment. The Naramata Women's Institute, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Salting, catered for the very enjoyable turkey dinner served in the card room.

A summary of events leading to the decision of Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon groups to establish television in the Okanagan was given by Mr. Chapman. The culmination of more than three years of surveys and planning with the final survey scheduled for next week gives promise of television here some time late in 1956, he stated. A question and answer period followed the informative and entertaining address.

Food Handlers Receive X-Rays

Plans are underway at the present time for chest x-raying of all food-handlers as required by the Penticton City Restaurant By-law, and it is hoped that the co-operation of beverage parlor operators will be obtained in the matter as well. Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical director, reported to a health unit meeting in Kelowna last Wednesday.

There are six common household breeds—blue tick, red bone, black and tan, English, treeing Walker and Plott. The only one recognized by the American Kennel Club is the black and tan.

Legion Will Continue Sponsorship Of Team In Little League Ball

Canadian Legion will continue sponsorship of a team in the Little League, Legion President Jim Bolton told members at their meeting Friday night.

He said the Legion had been informed by Little League officials that there would be no undue request for financial assistance in future years which was satisfactory, inasmuch as Legion heads did not feel they could make commitments on behalf of future executives.

Annual Victory Dinner, commemorating the two world wars, will be held at Legion Hall on June 17, Legion members were told at their regular monthly meeting, Friday night.

Receives Legion's 25-Year Badge

Major Hugh Fraser of Okanagan Falls was presented with a 25-year badge at the regular meeting of Penticton Branch number 40, Canadian Legion, Friday night.

In making the presentation, Graham Kincaid referred to Major Fraser's distinguished army career and his years of service to the Legion.

May Establish Dental Faculty At University

As part of the South Okanagan Health Unit's search for school dental service a resolution was circulated to all health units in the province for endorsement and to the board of governors of UBC asking that a Dental Faculty be established.

Some satisfaction was expressed at the quarterly meeting of the health unit in Kelowna last Wednesday when in the report of Dr. W. G. Hall, Penticton, dental director, it was announced that Dr. McDonald had been appointed as dental consultant to UBC's board of governors to study and report on the advisability of establishing a dental faculty.

Graham Kincaid Receives Tribute

In recognition of his sincere and arduous work on behalf of the Legion, Graham Kincaid was made an honorary vice-president of the local branch at the regular Legion meeting, Friday night.

Tribute to his years of service was paid by Legion President Jim Bolton.

"The work I do is not for the pleasure of it," Mr. Kincaid said, "it is because of my love for the Legion."

He is a former Legion president and zone commander.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WENT TO THE POLLS in unprecedented numbers last Friday to elect a full slate of officers to guide their activities for another term. The poll, located at the south-west corner of the high school, is shown above just after the peak flood during the noon hour. "Students set a good example for adults election day," said Principal H. D. Pritchard, "no less than 84 percent turned out to cast their ballot."

SHIRLEY MYERS PRESIDENT OF SENIOR STUDENTS COUNCIL

Penticton High School students elected Miss Shirley Myers to head their Senior Students' Council for the 1955-56 term in a record vote last Friday. When all the ballots were counted it was found that 84 percent of the Pen Hi students had designated their choice for the table officers.

Miss Myers was the successful candidate for president over Ed Lye. Filling the vice-president position left open by Miss Myers will be Bernice Hoyer. Bernice was the winner in a close battle with Jackie Young and Gordon Meakin.

For secretary three grade eleven girls were nominated and Jill Wiseman was the victor. Anne Steele and Marie MacFarland were the other two nominees. The largest number of candidates for one office was chosen for treasurer, with four names appearing on the ballot. Steve Zibin was the choice in the well split vote over Gerhard Kahrmann, Bob Coulter, and Hugh Cleland.

Hope Hartley will be the director of all social activities in Pen Hi next year as she was the choice for social convener over Marion Stewart.

Ray McNabb was elected in one of the closest races over Stella Brock for the chairman of the ALS council. Only one office won by acclamation was that of Athletic Council chairman. Miss Barbary Puddy was elected Athletic chairman and is the third person in three years to win this office by acclamation.

Historical Gavel Given At Health Unit Meeting

An interesting, historical feature of the second quarterly meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit meeting in Kelowna last Wednesday afternoon was the presentation by Alderman A. Jackson of Kelowna, of a gavel, for use at meetings. The base is made of wood from an apple tree planted by Dr. Boyce, the first doctor in Kelowna, who came to that city in 1895.

OAK AND APPLE

The head is turned from wood from an apple tree planted at Okanagan Mission by Dr. Ootmar, director of the Health Unit when it was started in 1927. The handle was supposed to have been from an oak hammer handle belonging to Dr. Esson Young, remarkable pioneer in health matters in this province, first minister of health, planner of B.C. health services, founder of Essondale and UBC. Dr. Young's hobby was carpentering, and his widow, now living at Victoria sent the handle for the purpose.

OAK HANDLE

Unfortunately the head had been prepared for a round hamdle while the one sent is oval. It is still hoped to use Dr. Young's original hammer handle in some way. In the meantime L. A. Polzin, cabinet maker, Kelowna, fitted an oak handle to the gavel.

Mr. Jackson was chairman of the health unit for three years prior to 1955, when Mrs. A. W. Vanderburgh, Summerland, became chairman. Mrs. Vanderburgh was given the gavel for the unit and expressed appreciation.

Facts About Cancer

When will medical science succeed in the battle against cancer?

That's a question none can answer at present. But it's also a question that has been on many lips in these past few weeks following the dramatic success of Dr. Jonas Salk in the fight against polio.

The question was partly answered by a young graduate of the University of B.C., who had a share in the polio success story, and who also has a role in the research end of the fight against cancer.

He is Dr. Joseph F. Morgan, formerly of Vancouver, now a biochemist with the department of health and welfare in Ottawa, working on cancer research.

He believes, along with many cancer researchers, that the nose is drawing tighter on this killer disease which will claim an estimated 19,000 lives in Canada this year.

Dr. Morgan said on a recent visit to his home city, that he believes cancer research laboratories around the world are gradually gathering enough clues to provide a solution to its lethal mystery.

"Science today is a combination of accumulated information," he said in an interview. And referring to the tremendous amount of research done on cancer he said:

"Soon all that will be needed will be another Salk to come along and put the jigsaw together to see the basic underlying principle that joins all the pieces of research."

His own research typifies the meaning of this statement.

Dr. Morgan was among the group of Canadian scientists, working on a Canadian Cancer Institute grant, who developed the culture medium No. 199.

This medium eventually was used by Dr. Salk for growing the tissues to be injected by the polio virus and thus converted to vaccine.

The two research projects — the one in which Dr. Morgan was engaged, and Dr. Salk's — were unrelated at first.

But the development of the tissue culture medium by the Canadians eventually proved to be the best medium for Dr. Salk and that led in turn, to the wonderful polio vaccine.

That's the way it is in modern research. What a scientist turns up today may not be immediately useful on his particular project. But sooner or later some man like Salk will find a place for it — and another enemy of mankind is beaten.

Researchers feel that since the research into cancer is so widespread now, so intense and so well developed, the day is coming soon when the multitudinous threads of evidence will be woven into a pattern which will spell success in capital letters.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: How can we tell if a growth is cancer?

A: By examining a small portion of the suspected tissue under the microscope.

Q: What is the difference between a benign and a malignant growth?

Home, Sunday School Cooperation Necessary In Religious Training

SUMMERLAND — That the home must co-operate with the Sunday school in giving religious training was the thought left with members of St. Andrew's United Church WA, by Rev. A. A. T. Northrup, rector of St. Stephen's Anglican church in an address on "Religious Education", the highlight of the meeting.

DEFINES RELIGION

Mr. Northrup said it is possible to know a great deal of Christian education, but still be a non-believer. He thought religion has to do with the heart and emotions, but that in conversions the intellect must be used.

He said that all education originated in the church, and was kept alive by it through the Dark Ages, and later church schools were maintained. Now little religion can be taught in our schools because various denominations do not agree on the curriculum, so the home and Sunday schools working together can give an answer to the need of religious education.

Mrs. K. L. Boothe took the devotional topic and Mrs. Bud Green was soloist.

TELLS OF MEETING

Mrs. Colin Campbell, president, recounted important parts of the presbyterial meeting held in Vernon, April 20. Mrs. J. C. Wilcox is president of the district association; Mrs. S. W. Falham, treasurer; Mrs. David Munn, press secretary — all three from Summerland.

Refreshments were served by the May committee.

Legion Thinks All Veterans Should Join

Every effort should be made to have all veterans join the Canadian Legion, inasmuch as only about one-fourth of veterans in the province belong to the organization.

This was a cardinal point put forward at the provincial convention held recently in Kelowna, Penticton delegates to the meeting informed Legion members, Friday night.

Those making reports were Legion President Jim Bolton, Secretary-Manager Pete Adams, Graham Kincaid and Frank Erout.

"The Legion represents not a minor force but a major influence," Mr. Erout declared, "there are dozens of ways in which we help in the community."

"But the Canadian Legion is holding the umbrella for all returned and that umbrella sometimes becomes a little heavy. If every Legion man would go out and get one member we would be well on the way to attaining our goal."

a limiting membrane and push aside the cells of the tissue in which they are found. They never spread to other parts of the body. Malignant cells grow normal cells and prevent the latter from functioning normally. Cancer cells may spread to other parts of the body.

Q: Are cancers in men and women different?

A: The same types of cancer may occur in both sexes apart from those forms of cancer in organs of the male and female reproductive systems.

Oliver, Osoyoos Soon To Vote On Phone Question

Ballots will be mailed June 2 to Oliver and Osoyoos telephone subscribers asking them to vote on the recently-announced B.C. Telephone Co. plan to provide free calling between the two communities.

The ballots will be accompanied by letters of explanation and stamped, addressed envelopes which are returnable to the company's district headquarters at Kamloops.

Equipment will be ordered this year for a dial telephone system for Oliver. Osoyoos already has an automatic system.

"The company feels that this question should be considered in conjunction with the overall growth of the Oliver-Osoyoos area," says E. J. Davis, B.C. Telephone Co. district manager at Kamloops. "It is a progressive step along metropolitan lines and if accepted, would result in a more convenient and faster telephone service between the two communities."

The plan would not come into effect for some time after approval by subscribers, but it is necessary to have a decision now, says Mr. Davis, so that engineering could be undertaken to provide means of handling the increased flow of calls that would accompany free calling.

He points out that a negative vote would mean an indefinite postponement of free calling, as another appropriate time for the introduction of the plan might not occur for many years. The present opportunity arises in connection with the projected conversion of Oliver to automatic operation.

Horticulturist's First Report
Of Season On Crop Conditions

Following report is the first one of the season from the provincial horticulturist's office at Victoria. It covers the field of agriculture in the Kamloops, Similkameen and Okanagan districts, and indicates that, despite the late spring, prospects are good for a bumper crop in most lines of fruit and vegetables. The report by districts follows:

DISTRICT NO. 3—OKANAGAN
Penticton-Naramata-Kaledon, Okanagan Falls, Keremeos-Cawston:

As reported May 17: The fall months were relatively dry and the winter was quite mild up to March. However, a temperature drop to 0 degrees at Penticton on March 4 caused some damage on apricot buds, particularly in the Penticton-Naramata area, but the overall crop loss is not considered to be too serious.

Hot weather is needed. The spring months have been cooler than normal with some rain, excessive cloudiness and excessive winds so that the season may be one of the latest on record. Apricots were in full bloom on May 4, some two weeks later than last year. Cherries showed a "snowball" bloom but weather was not considered too favorable for adequate pollination and the possible fruit set remains problematical. Peaches likewise showed a very heavy bloom and many growers tried blossom spray thinning for the first time. Pears and prunes should be in full bloom before this week is out while apples are still in the early pink stage. There are indications that apples and pears may yield bumper crops.

Some powdery mildew is already evident on apples while blight mite appears to be quite serious in many pear blocks. Sparrows have been damaging fruit buds in a number of orchards. Deer have been very active in the Naramata area and have caused extensive damage to trees in a few orchards.

Oliver and Osoyoos:
As reported May 16: The winter of 1954-55 was long and mild with the coldest weather in March. No damage to the crops occurred from the winter. The amount of bloom in the district would indicate the possibility of a bumper crop of all fruits.

The 1955 bloom period has been one of the latest on record with apricots in full bloom April 29. Early apples are in full bloom with the king bloom out on later varieties. A number of growers have done some blossom thinning of both apricots and peaches. Due to the threat of freezing which still appears to be present, most growers have not done as much as they would have if the weather had been more favorable.

To date the only pests of real concern have been birds. Three or four species of birds have been picking the bloom on the peaches mainly and the prunes and apricots to a lesser degree for the past several days. So far their work has caused no serious loss but there is the possibility that they may cause more work at thinning time in removing scented fruits.

The growers during the past several days have been busy applying sprays for scab, mildew and fireblight. With the rain which fell on Friday and Saturday last, 0.62 inches, it is felt these sprays were well warranted. At present it is raining.

Due to the precarious weather little planting was done in ground crops until after the first of May and there is still some to be done. Most of the plants appear to be in very good condition at present. With a little warmer weather they could produce a very nice crop.

Westbank, Peachland, Summerland:

As reported May 17: The 1955 season to date has been one of the latest in many years. At present the season is at least two weeks behind the average of the last nine years. The '54-'55 winter was mild in December and January with most of the cold weather and snow coming in February and early March. The lowest temperature for the winter came on March 4 when 7 degrees was recorded. This late cold snap thinned the apricots, and even a few peaches in the colder locations.

Since that time the development from winter to spring has been very slow. Although no severe spring frosts have been recorded, the day and night temperatures hovered in the high thirties and low forties for weeks. Although the temperatures have been low the weather has been quite dry and some of the lighter soils were dry in the first foot until last Friday when 5 inches of rain fell.

The apricots in this district are now at, or just past the petal fall stage. Peaches and cherries are in full bloom with Bartlett pears just coming into bloom. Apples are at the early pink stage. There is a particularly heavy bloom on all varieties of trees excepting apricots, and prunes and even in these latter varieties the bloom is sufficient for a crop.

The growers in the district are now busy applying pink sprays for apple scab and mildew. Some growers have been started on the more gravelly soils but irrigation is not general as yet.

Clover mites have been reported active in a few cases on fruit trees and bulbs and the infestation by these mites of one house has occurred. Lecanium scale has been showing up more frequently on peaches this spring and some spraying has already been done for these pests. A large number of growers reported green aphids on the apple buds at the late dormant stage. These were noticed more often where no dormant spray had been applied.

The planting of vegetables, seeds and plants, was again delayed this year. Spring onions were planted about a month late. A few intrepid growers planted tomatoes out around the 10th of May but the general planting is not yet fully under way.

Kelowna:
As reported May 17: The winter of 1954-55 was mild with less than normal precipitation. Minimum temperature for the winter occurred on March 4, when an unprecedented official low of -3 degrees was recorded in the city and -16 degrees was recorded at East Kelowna. Another cold snap on March 24 when 4 degrees was recorded at East Kelowna was experienced.

Thine cold snaps caused some trunk splitting, especially in cherries, and wiped out the local apricot crop, thinned some peach varieties and did some bud damage to cherries, particularly the Deacon variety but not enough to affect the size of the crop. Apples, pears and prunes apparently were not hurt.

The spring season so far has been very cold and, with it all plants is low. Judging from blossom dates in previous years the season is about the same as 1950, an estimated two weeks later than normal.

Pear and cherry blossom is heavy and indications are that apple blossoms will be exceptionally heavy, pointing up the probability of a bumper crop of these fruits.

Pests and diseases are not yet troublesome. Growers are applying a full complement of protective sprays for apple scab in a determined effort to reduce losses from this disease.

Planting of vegetable crops has been seriously retarded by cool weather conditions. Asparagus cutting is in full swing, a full two weeks later than normal. Fall-planted onions came through the winter in good condition. These have been transplanted and are making slow progress. Spring-seeded onions have emerged and are presently in the flag stage. Other seeded crops (carrots, beets, etc.) have not germinated well and reseeded of many fields may be necessary. Planting of early potatoes has been completed and the late varieties are now being planted. Cabbage and cauliflower have been set out but have made little growth. First plantings of tomatoes are being made in spite of the risk of late frosts. Bush and pole beans have now been seeded but they have not yet emerged.

Salmon Arm, Sorrento, Kamloops:
As reported May 17: A fairly mild winter was terminated with a cold snap early in March, when -20 degree F. was recorded at Salmon Arm. Cool spring weather delayed all horticultural crops, particularly tree fruits, small fruits and asparagus.

In the Salmon Arm and Sorrento area fruit trees came through the winter without much harm with the notable exception of cherries and apricots which show variable amounts of bloom injury due to spring and winter frost. In addition, young trees in many cases have been girdled by mice, thereby causing a widespread interest from growers in bridge grafting technique. Apple trees now in the pre-pink or early pink stage have mostly received the first spray for scab. At Kamloops apple trees are in the early bloom stage. Washington raspberries suffered severe winter injury. In a number of plantings while strawberries came through with little or no damage. Miticide dusts are being applied to strawberries to hold the two-spotted mite in check. The plants are retarded for this season of the year.

Asparagus fields at Kamloops are only now reaching peak production. The first tomato plants were field planted last week and planting will be general by the weekend. Some growers will be using plants shipped in from the United States. Cool windy days have hampered most field operations to some extent.

Armstrong, Vernon, Oya, Winfield, Okanagan Centre:

As reported May 19: The season at present appears to be from 8 to 10 days behind 1954. The last few days have been quite warm with sunny spells. Tree fruits came through the winter in fairly good shape with the exception of slight frost damage to odd blocks of apricots, peaches and sweet cherries. More pruning and general clean up in orchards has been done than previously and more dormant sprays have been applied than usual.

The coldest month of the winter was March when temperatures dropped to 15 below zero in some areas, which caused considerable bud damage to apricots and a lesser amount to sweet cherries and peaches. During this cold spell some loss was caused to greenhouse tomatoes.

At the present time orchards are taking on a little color with all tree fruits showing signs of very heavy bloom, the one exception being apricots. From present indications it looks as though we can expect a good crop of apples with a very few apricots showing up and then only in the odd orchard. Peaches are showing quite a heavy bloom at present. Pear blossom is the heaviest in many years and cherries are also showing a very heavy bloom. Italian prunes are just coming into full bloom and should be a very good crop. Transcendent crabs are now blooming and McIntosh should show a lot of bloom by this coming weekend.

Strawberries came through the winter in fairly good shape, although some patches were injured by the late frost. Raspberry canes in some areas were also killed back which will possibly show a loss in crop.

Planting of vegetable crops is now well in hand and a number of growers have finished planting cucumbers and peppers under hot caps. The first plantings of field tomatoes were made on May 10 which was considerably behind the previous year and the bulk of the tomato crop should be completed within the next few days. Early lettuce has been in for some time and planting of early celery is almost completed in the Armstrong area. Some early potatoes in the Grandview Flats section are now just showing above ground and planting of the watermelon crop in the same area is now completed. Transplanting of melons was started under hot caps on May 2. The melon acreage should be down considerably from 1954. The first cutting of cannerly asparagus was made on May 9 four or five days behind 1954. The first hothouse tomatoes should be available for local trade during this coming week and local hothouse cucumbers have been on the market for some time.

Grain crops are generally in good condition and making good growth. Most of the pea acreage in the Armstrong area is now planted with some early plantings now showing above ground. Pasture and range land is improving but a good rain would be beneficial for all crops.

Tent caterpillars are quite numerous in some areas and cutworms have made their appearance in the odd asparagus patch but pests in general have not been serious. Growers are applying scab sprays throughout the district and some prune growers have already applied blossom sprays.

Termites can live 30 or more years.

THREE VIEWS ON FREEDOM BY GREAT LIBERTARIANS

It was less than 200 years ago that bold students of the basis of human liberty were telling citizens of English-speaking countries some of the eternal truths on which our freedom system of life has been founded.

Edmund Burke in 1784 was challenging England with these words: "The people never give up their liberties but under some delusion."

Benjamin Franklin wrote: "They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

And James Madison, in 1788 in a speech in Virginia, said: "I believe there are more instances of the abridgment of freedom of the people by gradual and silent encroachments of those in power than by violent and sudden usurpations."

Public Invited To Program At School For Retarded Children

Mrs. E. O. Middleton, teacher at Sunnyvale Centre, and her class of nine pupils play host to the public May 26, between 2 and 5 p.m., in the Kelowna aquatic lounge where the school is housed.

Sunnyvale Centre, a day school for retarded children, was opened a year ago last December and now has an enrolment of nine pupils. If this seems an unusually low number it should be kept in mind that children of this calibre require so much more personal attention that it is just about the maximum that any one teacher can handle.

Mrs. E. O. Middleton, Sunnyvale's teacher from its beginning, is devoted to her children. She has a willing group of voluntary workers who provide transportation for pupils where necessary, help provide their noon meal, and in the afternoon assist Mrs. Middleton with various branches of instruction—music, ceramics, and so on.

The progress made with the pupils at Sunnyvale Centre is no less than amazing. Most of these young people, for in years they are really not kiddies any more, have learned to knit, weave, and do clay modelling—just to mention a few accomplishments—and have found the companionship of others, like themselves, who appreciate the simple things in life and require the understanding that only a teacher trained in this field of work can give. To most of these pupils life has taken on a new purpose.

May 13 was a red-letter day for the local societies for retarded children in the province of British Columbia. On that day the provincial association made up of delegates from groups in Trail, Chilliwack, Powell River, Vancouver, St. Christopher, New Westminster and Kelowna was formed. There are more groups being organized throughout the province and service clubs everywhere are taking a great interest in supporting these societies. To the provincial association, headed by Dr. McNeill of St. Christopher's, have been appointed as advisors three salaried men from various departments of provincial government. It is hoped that this action is an indication that some financial aid is forthcoming. R. C. Gore represented Kelowna at the meeting in Vancouver this month.

Cannery Waste Disposal Still Under Study

Work is going ahead on the primary installation of the screening system for Canadian Cannery's factory in Penticton, and will be completed prior to the opening of this cannery this year. Dr. D. A. Clarke reported this to a meeting of the South Okanagan Health Unit in Kelowna last week.

Rowell's Cannery at Cawston is being remodelled and work progressing favorably, Dr. Clarke said.

The matter of trade waste disposal is receiving serious consideration still by plant operators who are desirous of information on equipment and standards of effluent required to facilitate solution of their problems.

Toward this end Dr. Clarke reported that interior operators requested meeting with personnel of the federal and provincial government services, including representatives from the provincial government services, provincial health services, provincial game commission and dominion department of agriculture, fruit and vegetable division, and the meeting took place in Kelowna on May 17.

The Muskingum Conservancy District of Ohio is planting 20,000 pine and hardwood seedlings daily on lands adjoining the flood-control reservoirs.

Half the world's population over 10 years of age is illiterate, according to the Population Reference Bureau in Washington.

and any parent or guardian of a child inflicted with either physical or mental disability may apply to the nearest welfare agency for a special pension. This fact is not too widely known.

Following day after open house at Sunnyvale, the school will be closed for the summer months and will not be in operation until September. Society for Retarded Children is definite that the centre will be re-opened but its exact location is not certain. However, the executive committee is studying the matter thoroughly and will make public any changes in plans for the fall.

Former Pentictonite Visiting Friends Here

Renewing friendship in Penticton: is Bill Impett, an employee of the Herald in 1910. Mr. Impett served his apprenticeship at the Herald, broken by the first war when he was overseas from 1914 until 1919.

He left the printing business in 1923 and managed the Occidental Fruit Co. until 1936.

After a period of time in St. Catharines, Ont., he served in the second world war and since 1952 has been proprietor of the Lions Gate Tourist Court at Vancouver.

Mr. Impett recalls the days when every bit of print was handset. The first press was operated by turning it two times in

Look Out For Ticks

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical director of the South Okanagan Health Unit warned members at the meeting in Kelowna last Wednesday that it was "tick" time in the Okanagan.

On display were three of these bugs which most people in the valley are careful to avoid.

One had been taken from a person on a short visit to Penticton from the coast, who had suffered a mild paralysis as a result of its invasion.

His first editor was H. M. Blake at a time when the Herald was operated by the South Okanagan Land Co.

KEREMEOS NOTES

Ann Lofroth of Hedley was Rodeo Queen for the May Day celebrations sponsored by BPO Elks Lodge, No. 56, here on Monday, May 23; her attendants were Deanna Palmer and Margaret Schneider, runners-up in the competition. The three top students of Similkameen High School were selected by their fellow students by popular vote from nine students and the choice of the reigning queen was finally decided by the canvass of the districts in which ballots were sold; a tidy balance was realized in the "drive" which was applied to expenses. Miss Shirley Harris is the retiring Rodeo Queen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walters have been advised by cable of the birth of a daughter to Doug and Joy Bulwer in Soest, Germany on May 9. Mr. Bulwer is a nephew of Mrs. Walters, with whom he lived while attending the local schools. Mother and baby are both doing well.

Similkameen High School took first place in Class C, High Schools, (those under 100 students) at the inter-high school track meet at Kelowna last week, by a margin of 29 points. Those scoring for the local school and their respective standing are as follows:—1st, high jump, 16 and under, Juanita MacFarland; 2nd, 16 and under, 220 yard dash, W. Bradley; 100-yard, W. Bradley; boys' high jump, 14 and under, M. Perko; 16 and under, Gerald Clark; girls, open, Pat. Percy; 3rd, shot put, 16 and under, Gerald Clark; girls' broad jump, 14 and under, E. Rainbow.

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clarke were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carter, Miss Elaine Oman and Conner Clarke of Vancouver.

H. Barrett was the judge of the flower show, and at the conclusion of the program, he spoke for a few minutes on the various exhibits, giving his reasons for his choice of the winning entries.

Coffee was served at the conclusion of the meeting. There was a sale of plants, of a very fine heather plant and a collection of dahlia tubers were auctioned off.

The Member Reports

By O. L. Jones, Member for Okanagan Boundary

One Liberal MP has made a suggestion that the $2 billion program for the development of the Trans-Canada Highway be implemented in order to speed up the work on this vital and necessary artery in our highway system. There has been some disappointment felt in the progress being made by the various provinces in building the Trans-Canada Highway. Some provincial governments appear to be indifferent to the scheme, others are merely marking time, doing a little work each year but scarcely more than would be done ordinarily if the federal government was not subsidizing this road to the extent of 50 percent of its cost. It is still impossible to cross Canada on a Canadian highway of average standard. The speaker advocated a system whereby the major highways would become the responsibility of the federal government. This would be similar to the system which is now in effect in the United States.

The question of including agricultural workers under the Government Unemployment Insurance Act is receiving consideration by the government. This request has been made time and time again by farm organizations and Members of Parliament who, by this method, can see encouragement being given to young men to stay on the farms. The B.C.F.A. recently favored such a plan. The main difficulty in including farm workers under this Act has been the matter of collecting payments from the insured. In a city, the collection is comparatively simple as is also the necessary check on the books of the firms concerned. If this obstacle can be overcome, I feel quite sure that farm workers will be covered for Unemployment Insurance in the near future. I have received many communications from part time farm and packing house workers who, during their packing house employment, contribute under the Act but who are never able to qualify for unemployment benefits owing to the short period of work in the packing house. It seems unfair that collections are made for a coverage that is never given. Therefore, a proposed change in the Act as outlined will at least give these part-time workers a chance to receive benefits for which they subscribe.

Hazen Argue sponsored a private bill seeking to reduce the maximum interest charged by small loans companies from the present 24 percent per annum to a maximum of 12 percent per annum or one percent per month. Mr. Argue made a very good case for the reduction of what appears to be excessive interest. While this bill dealt with small loans companies only, it was pointed out that some commercial companies who sell on the instalment plan, may — and do — charge as high as 50 percent per annum. This phase of excessive interest will be dealt with through the instrument of another resolution which Mr. Argue has on the Order Paper. The parliamentary assistant to the minister replied that 24 percent appeared to be the customary maximum for small loans companies operating in the states and other countries. It was decided to encourage the lending of money to borrowers in the low income brackets who need loans up to a maximum of $500. The only way to have this loan interest reduced would be by public protest. In the meantime, we have people throughout Canada who need money so badly that they are willing to pay excessive interest to get the loan.

Questions have been asked of the minister of national revenue regarding his recent conversation with Premier Frost of Ontario. According to reports, Dr. McCann disclosed to Premier Frost the fact that one of his supporters in the provincial house had broken the law regarding receiving election funds without disclosing the fact in his Election Act returns. The money, totaling $6,800, was given by a lumber mill owner, John Drohan, to the campaign fund of James Dempsey, Conservative M.L.A. for Renfrew South. In the meantime, Mr. Drohan died and the estate was administered by a trust company of which Dr. McCann is a director. The question being asked is: Did Dr. McCann possess the information as the Minister of National Revenue or as a director of the trust company that administered the estate? Incidentally, Dr. McCann represents the same Riding, federally, as Mr. Dempsey does provincially. As a result of this disclosure, the Conservative Party of Ontario have withdrawn all support from Mr. Dempsey's candidature. Mr. Dempsey, on the other hand, claims that he acted in good faith and proposes to run as an independent.

This disclosure of irregularities in connection with Mr. Dempsey's election returns is only a repetition of similar conditions elsewhere in Canada but which have not been disclosed. However, this incident will at least alert the government and the public to a condition that has been condoned for many years. The committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries hopes to end its meetings this week by the introduction of evidence to be given by the official hangman for Eastern Canada. Evidence so far given seems to be overwhelmingly opposed to capital punishment and especially hanging as a means of carrying out the sentence. Therefore, if the committee recommend the continuance of capital punishment, it is quite possible that another method will be found to carry out the sentence. The present method of hanging is considered cruel and not instantaneous, as well as being primitive.

The evidence on lotteries is practically complete and needs only to be reviewed by the committee to arrive at definite recommendations. Again, the evidence appears to be overwhelmingly in favor of controlled lotteries, such control would be to prevent racketeering and to make sure that money raised by this method would be distributed to legitimate and worthy charities.

The St. Lawrence Seaway gets under way this week. Contractors have moved heavy drills and other equipment into the area in order to start digging the canal. Most of the work has been given under tender bids and will be carried out by the suitable machinery. The manual labor required is more than ample from workers already living in the vicinity of the Seaway. I mention this because of one or two enquiries from British Columbia as to the possibility of getting work on this project. Therefore, anyone contemplating moving East in the hope of getting work, should first of all contact the chairman of the seaway authority in Montreal and then only if the applicant has some special engineering qualifications and training.

Dream Of Own Office Building Realized By Oliver Credit Union

OLIVER — Finishing touches are being put to a dream held by the Oliver Credit Union this week with the completion of finishing in the recently acquired fire-proof building.

The dream of having their own building and office on the main floor goes back some 14 years when a few citizens pooled their savings of a few hundred dollars for mutual help. During that time the office moved from place to place in the village.

The growth of the Union has been phenomenal. It has grown from a meagre membership of 10 to 366 and in capital from considerably less than $1,000 to $366,000.

The Credit Union's building will house the Oliver branch of the Okanagan Regional Library in the near future.

"Want some help with your homework, Dad?"

It's a good thing young Ted is only joking. If his Dad took him up on that offer, Ted would soon find himself floundering in a sea of facts about family income management, succession duties, taxes, wills, trusts, business insurance and other related subjects!

You see, Ted's father is a typical life underwriter — a man who has not only been trained for his job, but keeps up-to-date by constant study. For the uses of life insurance are more extensive today than they used to be. And the men who represent companies in this business now advise you with increased skill.

Doing this calls for more than study. It takes real understanding of people's needs. And since each family's needs are different, the company representative offers valuable guidance in making plans to fit these needs — individually.

All in all, the life insurance man you deal with today is a very good man to know. And his progress is another reflection of the many ways in which the life insurance business has developed with the times to meet your changing needs!

South Okanagan School Board Hears Of Creston School Study Experiment

OLIVER—W. McLeod, principal of the Osoyoos Elementary School, told the South Okanagan School Board at their monthly meeting last week about an experiment being carried on at the Creston elementary schools to help all types of students by a steady and progressive kind of educational program.

The experiment, under supervising principal Adam Robertson, which Mr. McLeod believed was approved by the Department of Education, had departed from Grade grouping to that of homogeneous groupings within the primary and intermediate stages, with each stage taking three years for an average pupil and four years for a slow one. A bright child in a class of similar children would not advance beyond the average pupil, but would receive further studies to enrich the regular course of study.

In a slow student's progress, there would be no gaps in his instruction with the time extended from six years to eight. For the above average pupil the two stages would take six years to complete but the student would receive instruction under the enriching program of the school.

The basic object of this kind of teaching is to keep the student progressing with added subjects or in other cases to cover the curriculum at a steady pace and not leave the child frustrated in about the seventh grade.

R. A. Guidi, principal of the Oliver Elementary school, who accompanied Mr. McLeod to Creston, put out circulars on the same idea to parents in the Oliver district as far back as 1951 and receiving poor response did not follow it up. While grade numbers are recognized in his schools the principal of homogeneous grouping is being followed.

In the Creston schools, analytical tests are carried out such as reading readiness and maturity. A librarian-music teacher and intermediate coordinator are extra to the general staff of teachers.

The two South Okanagan principals met Inspector C. E. Clay, Grand Forks, and spent much time with him learning about the curriculum of the Creston schools.

FFVWU Names Tom Dunlop Union's Conciliation Board Representative

Tom Dunlop of Vancouver has been named union representative on a three man conciliation board appointed to settle a contract dispute between the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions (FFVWU) and Okanagan Federated Shippers.

Venue of the board's sitting has been established as Kelowna but date has not yet been fixed. The department of labor has not yet announced name of the board's chairman, while management has not indicated the identity of its representative.

The union is seeking a 10 cents an hour across the board pay boost and other changes in its contract. Agreement has been reached between the two sides only on a few minor points.

Mr. Dunlop is well known as a former member of the old full-time Labor Relations Board. He filled the post vacated by the resignation of George Wilkinson.

Meanwhile, a tightening up of TLC-AFL organization in the Okanagan is in progress, with a conference called by the Okanagan District Trades and Labor Council in Kelowna drawing up plans for consolidation of its work and proper servicing of AFL locals.

"Fermate"

Ferbam Fungicide

OUTSTANDING FOR SCAB CONTROL

"FERMATE" is outstanding also because it controls more diseases than any other fruit fungicide. Powerful against disease, "FERMATE" is mild on foliage, and does not cause costly chemical russetting that reduces grade and quality. This "powerful yet mild action" produces higher yields of clean, firm apples—with fruit colour that makes number one grade.

"MANZATE"

Maneb Fungicide

For Vegetables: "Manzate" controls early and late blights, anthracnose, gray leaf spot and septoria leaf spot—and also controls diseases on potatoes, onions, carrots, spinach and other vegetables. "Manzate" is compatible with commonly used insecticides.

"ZERLATE"

Ziram Fungicide

For Vegetables and Fruit: "Zerlate" effectively controls fungous diseases on vegetables and on apples, peaches and pears. "Zerlate" is equally mild on foliage.

DU PONT SPREADER-STICKER

Increases Effectiveness of Spray Mixtures
Sprays containing Spreader-Sticker often adhere more evenly and stay on foliage longer.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.

Social Events Provide Relaxation For Nurses At Convention Here

With nurses from all parts of the province assembled in this city for the 43rd annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia, the time will not be devoted entirely to business deliberations. A number of social events and other activities have been arranged to provide them with periods of relaxation and entertainment.

A pre-convention educational program was held yesterday at the Hotel Prince Charles, convention headquarters. Miss Edna Rossiter, of Vancouver, vice-president of the association, chaired this portion of the meeting.

Guest speaker for the day and director of the program was Miss Margaret Giffin, of New York City. "Teaching Responsibilities in Nursing" was the subject of the address presented by Miss Giffin, who is assistant director, department of hospital nursing, National League for Nursing, in the American city.

Last evening approximately 200 nurses were guests at a "get acquainted" social aboard the SS Seacomus, the former Okanagan Lake sternwheeler now permanently berthed on the beach at Penticton.

A very entertaining program highlighted with a "fashion parade" by student nurses and a sing-song led by George Gay with piano accompaniment by Ken F. Henderson, was followed with the serving of refreshments. The amusing "style show" was arranged by the nurses from the Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops, while student nurses attending the convention were the models.

A special delegates' breakfast this morning at the Prince Charles provided another "get acquainted" meeting and business session for the many nurse delegates and officials.

This evening a banquet will be also held in the Glengarry Room at the hotel and will be highlighted with an address by Miss Giffin, giving those unable to attend the pre-convention meeting an opportunity to hear this distinguished guest.

Among members of the local chapter of nurses assisting Mrs. John N. Pearson, convener of convention arrangements, are Mrs. J. R. Parmley, floral decorations; Mrs. E. F. Boulding, exhibits; Mrs. Paul Sharp, billets; Miss Joan Appleton and Mrs. Roy Holson, social events.

St. Andrew's Setting For Hill - McFarland Nuptials

Spring flowers in profusion decorated the chancel of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the pretty ceremony on May 14 in which a former resident of this city, Evelyn Helen McFarland, of Vancouver, became the bride of Robert John Hill, of Lethbridge, Alberta. Rev. Samuel McGladdery read the marriage vows for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McFarland, of Calgary, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of Tisdale, Saskatchewan.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of white lace styled with molded bodice and bateau neckline cut low in back. White lace also fashioned her hat, and complementing her bridal attire was a bouquet of red roses and gardenias.

A ballerina length frock of coral colored nylon shantung was worn by the bride's only attendant, Miss Norma Fairweather, of Vancouver, formerly of Oliver. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations.

Des Coles, of Vancouver, was best man. Ushering were the bride's brother, W. D. McFarland, of Victoria, and L. Duncan, of this city.

A reception was held in the Alexander Room of the Canadian Legion Hall after which the newly married couple left on a honeymoon in the States. The bride travelled in a suit of rust tweed with hat to match. Her accessories were in matching color.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill will take up residence in Lethbridge.

Her younger sister, Dianne Bell, and Michael Dallas Yarrow Eccles, son of Dr. and Mrs. Yarrow Eccles, of London, England, were married on May 7. Both brides were born in Penticton and spent the early years of their girlhood here.

Marriages In Eastern Canada Of Interest Here

Wide local interest has been focussed on two recent marriage ceremonies at Westmont, Ontario, in which the brides were Miss Betty Ann McNicoll and Miss Dianne Bell McNicoll, daughters of former residents of this city. Mrs. David Roy McNicoll, of Westmont, and the late Mr. McNicoll, brother of Alex McNicoll, of Penticton.

St. Matthias Church was the setting for both nuptials. Betty Ann, who is the elder daughter of the former Penticton residents, became the bride of R. Fraser Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fraser Elliott, of Ottawa, on May 24.

Her younger sister, Dianne Bell, and Michael Dallas Yarrow Eccles, son of Dr. and Mrs. Yarrow Eccles, of London, England, were married on May 7. Both brides were born in Penticton and spent the early years of their girlhood here.

Major H. N. Fraser will be host on Sunday afternoon from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. entertaining at SYL Ranch, Okanagan Falls, for the Vees, their wives and friends.

Club Officers Installed At Impressive Ceremonies

At a colorful and impressive ceremony the new officers of the Business and Professional Women's Club were installed at the monthly dinner meeting held last Friday. The club was honored in having Miss Hilda Cryderman, of Vernon, to perform the installation. Miss Cryderman is a past national officer of the club federation and has served the club in many capacities. At present Miss Cryderman is president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Prior to the installation, Miss Cryderman spoke to the members on the values of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She stressed the excellent training and experience which she herself has received through the club and which has proved of great service to her in her present capacity as president of the Teachers' Federation.

The newly elected club president, Miss Ruth Adams, was unable to be present for the occasion. Miss Joan Appleton, a past president, represented her during the installation ceremonies.

Officers installed were Miss Margaret McAstocker, 1st vice-president; Mrs. J. Connell Cooper, 2nd vice-president; Miss Betty Kendall, secretary; Miss Joyce Dey, treasurer, and Mrs. Anna Mason, archivist.

Installed as committee conveners were Miss Hetty Parkin, membership; Miss Mary MacInnis, education and publicity; Miss Vera Davies, social; Mrs. Clara Fleck, programs; Miss Lella Boucher, finance and legislative, and Miss Addie Evans, international relations.

Reports were submitted by all officers and committees. Of special interest was that from the international relations committee members who reported that they had been instrumental in forming a United Nations Club in Penticton. All groups within the club reported progress.

Two distinguished business women, who were visitors at the meeting, Miss Ann Gaustin, from Vernon, who represents the club's "Equal Pay for Equal Work" committee on a provincial level, and Mrs. L. V. Lillie, spoke briefly during the evening. Mrs. Lillie, who is a member in this city in connection with

of the Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Club, was the Martha Logan cooking school.

The Penticton club is assisting in the canvass with the United Welfare Appeal and plans covering this were finalized at the Friday evening meeting.

Following adjournment the members of the retiring executive and the newly installed executive were guests at a coffee party at the home of Miss Margaret McAstocker.
